Roads Opened To 1,686 Snow-Marooned Farms In Nebraska, South Dakota

Light Snow Clogs Roads In Central Nebraska; Death Toll Mounts To 20

Relief work for snowbound humans and livestock in the "disaster area" of Nebraska rolled ahead Wednesday gaining momentum despite new light snow and strong icy winds.

In a 24-hour period, Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, head of the Fifth Army Relief operations, reported that roadways have been opened to 1,686 snow-marooned persons in Nebraska and South Dakota.

To accomplish this, snowplows and bulldozers heaved snow and ice from 206 miles of road.

20 Storm Deaths.

The announcement came as the Associated Press listed the state's death total due to storms since the first of the year at 20. At least three other persons were reported missing and another person, whose name is unknown, was identified as a storm victim in the Bartlett area.

Meanwhile, the new snow, the heaviest of which fell in central Nebraska and measured nearly an inch at St. Paul, re-blocked some roads in that area. It was still snowing at St. Paul and Ord at noon with the famous Midway cut west of St. Paul again drifting shut cutting off traffic to Ord, the new headquarters of a 5-county disaster area.

Already army officials in the state were planning long-range operations to keep Nebraska ranchers supplied with fuel, food, and hay through March. They pointed out that the surface of massive job of digging out the disaster area had just begun—that the more than 800 that have been freed from their farm and ranch isolation were just a handful of those that need assistance.

"Clearing roads does not solve the problem. We must get supplies to these people and keep the supplies coming," a Fifth Army spokesman said.

The national guard rescue teams of more than 300 men in the field called for more trucks to help supply farmers and ranchers.

684 Bulldozers.

Other requests poured in today. One came from Neligh where 100 cots and blankets are needed. They are to be used for relief workers coming into the area.

The Fifth Army reported that in the three state area of Nebraska, Wyoming, and South Dakota, it was operating 684 bulldozers, 58 weasels. There were 230 military men and officers working in the three-state disaster field but private, county and state, and national guard crews were carrying the heavy load of operating the equipment.

Several hundred persons were given access to outside world in the Broken Bow area when a dozen "cats" knifed through month-old drifts. It was the same story at Bartlett, Ord, and Burwell where the mercury dipped to 13 below early today.

$500,000 State Aid Exhausted

Storm Relief Funds All Spent By Time Senators Give O.K.

Nebraska's $500,000 emergency blizzard relief fund was expected to be exhausted by midnight tonight.

Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger this afternoon called on the Fifth army to speed up the transfer of responsibility for operation of several hundred pieces of snow-removal equipment sent into the storm area by the national guard.

General Henninger wired Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick at Omaha that it was difficult to estimate the state obligations accurately.

"However," he said, "it is our best judgment that the state emergency funds will be exhausted by midnight tonight."

Up To Army.

He requested that General Pick arrange to contact the equipment operators and assume the obligation for the cost of operations as of that time.

"It appears," General Henninger added, "that Nebraska would necessarily have to notify state agencies in the field that no further expenditures beyond midnight can be made."

To county clerks, Henninger sent a wire asking county officials to contact Fifth army subarea officers in order to expedite transfer of the machines to federal control.

Board Asked To Re-enter Rail Dispute

CHICAGO—(AP)—The principals in the lengthy railroad wage-hour dispute today asked the presidential fact-finding board to re-enter the dispute and "try and work out a settlement between us."

The request was made jointly by George Leighty, representing the 16 non-operating unions totaling some 1,000,000 members, and Daniel Loomis of the carriers.

They said both sides agreed to ask the return of the board.

It was dissatisfaction with this same board's recommendation last year that preceded the lengthy current talks.

The negotiators met today without giving any hint of how close they were to settling the 10-month-old dispute.

The railroads submitted a proposal at yesterday's meeting. Its terms were not disclosed but a union official described it as one "for settling the principal points of the dispute."

TRAIN OF GRATITUDE IS IN N. Y.

NEW YORK—(AP)—French ship, symbolizing the gratitude of the French people to Americans, received a riotous welcome in New York harbor today.

Ship whistles blared, planes roared overhead and fireboats spread a sheen of white water skyward as the steamship Magellan, bearing the French "Thank You" train, passed the Statue of Liberty.

The 49-car train—one car for each of the states and the District of Columbia—is the French "Merci" for the Friendship train which Americans sent to France last year laden with food and gifts.

Among the 1,000,000 gifts aboard the train are historic documents, flags and other souvenirs of both World wars.

The Association of American Railroads announced in Washington that state cars will clear from Weehawken four sections on Saturday and Monday to begin their trips to the various state capitals.

With scores of brief exhibition stops to be made en route, these arrival times at the respective state capitals (local time) are scheduled:

Des Moines, Ia., 8 a. m. Feb. 13.
Lincoln, Neb., 11 A. M. Feb. 13.

Legislature Advances Relief Acts

The state legislature suspended the rules Wednesday and passed on final reading LB 324, appropriating $500,000 for storm emergency relief, and LB 325, setting up the storm emergency fund.

An emergency clause attached to the bills, provides that they become law immediately upon signature by the governor, probably Wednesday or Thursday.

The money appropriated by the bills will be used to cover expenses of the state in battling the snow in the blizzard area in north and west Nebraska.

Iowa To Receive "Thank You" For Storm Assistance

Nebraska's legislature prepared Wednesday to give Iowa an official "thank you" for its free storm aid.

A resolution memoralizing the governor, legislature, and highway commission of Iowa for the snow removing equipment which it has lent the state was introduced by Senators Lee, Hanna and Burney.

The resolution is expected to be passed Thursday and immediate dispatched to the Iowa governor so it can be read to both houses of the legislator there.

—New Labor Law—

Bans On Unions May Fall

NLRB Chairman Tells Committee State Laws Would Be Overridden

The chairman of the national labor relations board said today the Truman administration's labor bill would override state bans against the closed shop.

NLRB Chairman Paul M. Herzog testified before the senate labor committee, which is considering the bill under a new "hurry up" order calling for night shifts. Secretary of Labor Tobin was to follow Herzog to the stand.

Herzog took the stand after an angry wrangle among committee members over the decision to hold night sessions. The quarrel ended with a 5-4 party-line vote to meet nights.

The row began when Republican Sens. Donnell (Mo) and Taft (Ohio) protested that the first they knew of the decision to meet at night was when they read it in the papers this morning. Donnell moved to reconsider.

'Good Taste.'

Sen. Morse (R-Ore) asked if it were in order to debate the Donnell motion.

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) reddened, hesitated, and then said;

"You're in order, but I doubt very much whether it's in good taste."

Morse reddened and said coldly: "I will always be the judge of whether what I do is in good taste. And I'm not interested in the opinion of the senator from Utah as to what is in good taste."

The democrats are trying to sped action. Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), looking on Morse's move for debate as a delaying measure, accused the republicans of conducting an "informal filibuster."

Donnell indignantly denied this.

Motion Defeated.

The upshot was a vote on Donnell's motion to reconsider yesterday's decision on night sessions. That lost 5-4.

Herzog said the new measure

Light Snow Is Forecast

South Section May Get Sleet Thursday

Light snow was in prospect for most of Nebraska tonight and Thursday.

Some sleet is predicted for the south portion of the state tomorrow.

However, the city weather bureau said the fall was not to amount to much in the Lincoln area.

The Kansas City weather bureau warned snow and increasing wind is expected Thursday night with blizzard conditions possible in the west. Much colder weather is likely Friday with highs ranging from zero in the northwest to 20 in the southeast.

Strong north and northwest winds will probably continue through Friday, forecasters advised.

Light snow was falling at noon today at Omaha, Grand Island, North Platte and Hayes Center. An early morning snow brought Lincoln .01 of an inch of precipitation.

Higher Temperatures.

From Ord today came a report of an inch of snow.

Temperatures are expected to warm slightly Thursday, climbing into the 20s throughout the state.

Lows tonight will probably range from 5 to 15 degrees above zero.

Norfolk recorded the state low of 17 below last night. Burwell had -13 and Omaha -12. Hayes Center's 26 was the high Tuesday.

Lincoln's overnight low was 1 below, the high yesterday 16.

Harry Walker's Son Dies Of Blood Disease

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Terry Walker, six-year-old son of Harry Walker, former National league batting champion, died today at Temple university hospital. Hospital officials said death was caused by heart failure from a blood disease.

Walker, whose .363 led the league in 1947 when he was playing centerfield for the Philadelphia Phillies, flew here Tuesday night to be with his ailing son, who had suffered from a blood disease for nearly two years.

The Walkers' other child, Carol, 2, is staying with friends in Alabama.

NATHAN B. PONT

Pont Named To State Liquor Commission

Governor Val Peterson Wednesday announced the appointment of Nathan B. Pont, Stanton, to the state liquor control commission to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of R. E. Brega, present commission chairman.

Brega was named to the commission on April 7, 1947, to fill the unexpired term of Theo Osterman. His present term would have expired May 25. His resignation becomes effective April 1.

In a letter to the governor, Brego said "I am convinced after careful study of the circumstances, that giving up my home in Callaway and the financial loss involved by terminating my business there, that it would be inadvisable to consider reappointment or hold my present appointment longer than necessary to complete matters now under consideration."

Six-Year Term.

Pont will complete Brega's unexpired term and will also be appointed for a full six-year term, the governor said. Pont, with his brother, Ervine, was publisher of the Stanton Register from 1915 until it was sold a short time ago.

Former president of the Nebraska Press association, Pont is a veteran of World war I and a member of the American Legion.

Grains Go Skidding

. . . MANY HIT SEASONAL LOWS

CHICAGO — (INS) — Grain, soy bean and lard futures suffered another sharp break today.

On heavy selling, most futures dropped to new seasonal lows while July wheat sold below $2 a bushel for the first time in several months. May wheat was the lowest since last September.

May rye tumbled 7⅛ cents and soy beans 5 cents before meeting with important buying.

Wheat dropped 3 cents and corn 4¾ cents before some futures met with support.

At the close wheat was 1⅞ to 2¾ cents lower, corn 2½ to 4¾ cents lower led by December, oats 1¼ to 1⅞ cents down, rye 6⅞ to 7⅛ cents off and soy beans 3 to 3½ cents lower.

July wheat sold as low as $1.99¼ and closed around that level.

All grain futures except May and July wheat sold at new seasonal lows. Soy beans and lard deliveries also established new seasonal lows.

Minnesotan Found Guilty Of Slavery

Gets 3½ Years, Fined $2,500 For Keeping Mexican In Peonage

MANKATO, Minn.—(INS)—George Stark, 60, wealthy Gibbon, Minn., farmer, was sentenced today to three and one-half years in prison and fined $2,500 on a federal charge of peonage.

A jury of 11 men and one woman returned a guilty verdict against Stark last night after deliberating a little more than 12 hours in Federal District court at Mankato.

U. S. Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye, in imposing the sentence, told the jurors they had reached a "right verdict" and that Stark "was guilty beyond question" of holding Francisco A. Rodriguez, 39-year-old American-born Mexican, in slavery for seven years.

Judge Nordbye declared:

"It seems impossible that a thing like this could happen in a democracy."

Stark was arrested last summer when Rodriguez' bondage was brought to the attention of Mankato authorities by a farm-to-farm salesman to whom he had told his story in halting, broken English.

Rodriguez testified that he had been beaten on numerous occasions and threatened with death if he attempted to run away from the farm and had lived in constant terror of Stark.

GROUNDHOG DAY—This groundhog, who was foolish enough to come up out of his warm ole for the occasion, saw no shadow today. If you believe the legend that means winter is over.

However the famous Punxsutawney, Pa., groundhog, who is reputed to have no peer as a weather prophet, peeked out of his hole at 6:32 a. m. Wednesday, took one look around and then ducked back into his earthly home.

That means six more weeks of winter according to the tradition. Take your choice.

Doctors Object To Dictator Making A Trip To Washington

. . . First Public Admission Health Is Not Good

By KINGSBURY SMITH.

(World Copyright, 1949, By International News Service.)

PARIS — (INS) — Premier Stalin said today his health does not allow him to travel to Washington, but he invited President Truman to confer with him at any one of five cities in Russia or, "at the president's discretion," in Poland or Czechoslovakia.

Stalin made his statement in a telegram to International News Service, replying to a message sent him by this correspondent asking the Russian leader if he was prepared to go to Washington where President Truman has said he is willing to meet with him at any time.

Stalin's telegram, sent to the writer in Paris, expressed the premier's gratitude to President Truman "for his invitation to come to Washington."

"For a long time," Stalin added, "it was my wish to visit Washington and at one time I mentioned this to President Roosevelt at Yalta and to President Truman at Potsdam.

"Unfortunately, at present I am unable to realize this wish of mine, since doctors strongly object to my undertaking any prolonged journey, especially by sea or air."

Second Exchange.

This new exchange of messages was the second in four days between Stalin and this correspondent. On Sunday, Stalin declared in an answer to an INS questionnaire that he was willing to discuss a "pact of peace" with Mr. Truman.

Today's telegram by the Russian premier provided his first personal and public admission that he is not in good health. There have been recurring reports for some time that this was the case.

Having stated his doctors' objections to his undertaking any long trip, Stalin made his counter-suggestion of a meeting with the American president in his own part of the world.

He said a conference could be arranged "at the president's choice" either in Moscow, Leningrad, Kaliningrad, Odessa or Yalta—all in the U.S.S.R.—or at Mr. Truman's discretion in Poland or Czechoslovakia.

Doctors Say "No."

Stalin emphasized that his doctors had ruled out any long journey "by sea or air."

Yalta, a lavish resort in the Crimea highly favored by aristocrats in czarist days, was the scene of Stalin's last meeting with the late President Roosevelt.

Leningrad was St. Petersburg in the time of imperial Russia, while Kaliningrad was Koenigsberg, capital of East Prussia, prior to the second World war. It was the scene of bitter fighting in both world conflicts but was particularly famous in the first one.

The battles of Tannenberg and the Masurian lakes were fought near Koenigsberg and the late President Von Hindenburg, hero of those epic encounters, is buried in the area.

Stalin did not mention any particular site in Poland or Czechoslovakia as an alternative, leaving this to President Truman's "discretion."

However, Poland has been busy since the end of the war in repairing the enormous damage done to Warsaw, the capital.

Prague, the Czechoslovak capital, has been restored and there are many famous and beautiful resorts elsewhere in that country.

Marked "Urgent."

Stalin's telegram was delivered by the French postal and telegraph service in an envelope marked "Urgent," with several official stamps bearing the same designation pasted on it.

Two copies were delivered through the central French post office. Both were in English.

The preamble to the telegram showed that the two identical messages were dispatched from Moscow at 15-minute intervals. The first preamble read:

"SSS eleven Moscow, 165—11-1145 Etat (State) URSS government priority."

French telegraph officials explained that the letter "S" repeated three times means the highest official government priority, clearing ahead of all other traffic.

The second message read the same as the first except that it bore the designation "SSS twelve" instead of "eleven."

Four Questions Answered.

This was the first message this correspondent received signed by Stalin, and I believe it is the first time he actually signed a statement sent to any newspaperman.

The Soviet premier's answers to my four questions Sunday were handed to Moscow's INS correspondent Natalia Rene in the Kremlin.

Apart from the historic invitation to President Truman to meet with him, the telegram was also

TRUMAN WILL NOT LEAVE U.S.

. . . To Confer With Stalin

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The White House said today that President Truman has received no invitation from Prime Minister Stalin for a meeting to discuss United States-Russian differences. The president's position against leaving the United States for such a discussion is unchanged, it was added.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, asked about a published report that the Soviet leader had suggested a meeting in Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia, told a news conference that Mr. Truman has not received any communication from Stalin on this subject.

He added that what Ross told newspapermen Monday "still stands.

At that time, Ross said that Mr. Truman had given his latest word on the subject at a recent news conference. The president reiterated then that he would be happy to receive Stalin in Washington, but that his position against leaving this country for such a conference was unchanged.

T. Adams Measure Calls For Naming Special Committee

The legislature at the Wednesday morning session passed on final reading 11 measures for submission to the governor. Two carrying the emergency clause so that they will become law on signature provide the $500,000 storm emergency fund and for its administration. The rules were suspended to permit passage.

With one exception there was no opposition to any of the bills with the votes running from 38 to 40 votes for and three to five members missing roll call.

LB 16, introduced by Sen. Thomas Adams of Lincoln found 13 senators voting in opposition and 20 favoring the bill. Those opposed: Sens. John Adams, Burnham, Carson, Cretsinger, Hanna, Hill, Lee, Metzger, Nelson, Pizer, Prohs, Schroeder and Williams.

Will Formulate Standards.

The bill provides that the state superintendent set up a procedure for the accrediting of elementary and secondary schools both public and private. He will appoint an accreditation committee representative of the educational institutions and agencies of the state.

The director of admissions of the University of Nebraska is to be a member of the committee which will be responsible for formulating standards and make annual recommendations to the superintendent relative to the classification and accreditation of individual schools.

Big Battle Raging On Yangtze

American Correspondent Sees Heavy Fighting Near Nanking, Shanghai

SHANGHAI— (AP) — Robert Doyle of Time and Life magazines today reported seeing a heavy battle raging on the north bank of the Yangtze river near Kiangyin, between Nanking and Shanghai.

Doyle was aboard the British frigate Black Swan which was anchored in Kiangyin harbor when the fighting started with light and medium artillery barrages about 1:30 a. m. (11:30 p. m. CST) Tuesday. He said the fighting was still in progress at 6:20 a. m. when the Black Swan left for Shanghai.

The magazine writer said the air was filled with shells and tracer bullets. He said most of the gunfire appeared from the nationalist side. The gunfire took place during a heavy rain and pitch darkness.

Two Chinese destroyers and two smaller Chinese naval craft were anchored off Kiangyin at the time but made no motion to join the fight, Doyle said.

This is the first report of any fighting along the Yangtze.

STAR WITNESS BATTLING SNOW; CASE DISMISSED

You can't win a case if your star witness is absent.

And so the county attorney's office Tuesday dismissed its action against Gunner A. Nestor, former Omahan now living at Boise, Idaho, who was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Witnesses to the accident, which occurred May 27 on highway 77 near Lincoln Memorial park, said a man was run over by a car as he lay injured on the pavement.

Key witness Robert Franz, working in snow-blocked western Nebraska, was unable to attend the jury trial scheduled to begin yesterday.

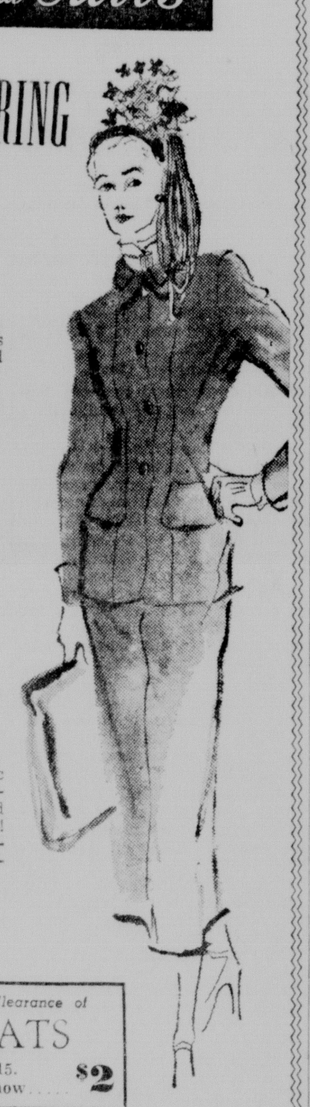

The case was then dismissed because of insufficient evidence on the motion of Deputy County Attorney Herbert A. Ronin. Nestor had pleaded innocent in both Municipal and District courts.

Enrollment At N. U. To Reach 9,200

. . . Second Semester

The University of Nebraska's second semester enrollment is expected to total 9,200, Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, director of admissions, reported Wednesday.

A total of 8,750 had completed registration Wednesday. This did not include a number of late registrants in the undergraduate colleges, or several hundred in the Graduate college who have until Friday to complete registration.

890 Drop.

The estimated enrollment for the second semester represents a "normal" drop of about eight per cent from the first semester which had a total of 10,073. The enrollment for the second semester a year ago was about 9,400 at this time.

The university graduated 532 students at mid-year. These were replaced by over 500 new students who enrolled in the university for the second semester.

3 Insurance Bids Received By City

CAP Meeting Canceled

The regular meeting of the Lincoln squadron of the Civil Air Patrol scheduled for tonight has been canceled, Maj. O. T. Powell announced today.

Maj. Powell said plans are being made for a state conference in Grand Island, Feb. 19-20. Gen Lucas V. Beau, national CAP commander, will discuss emergency work, such as is now being done in the storm area.

equipment in the snow-stricken area. And at least 100 planes—army Red Cross and civilian — were doing reconnaissance and relief work. The army, air force, government, state and county officials were supervising most of the operations.

Already at work in the Alliance area were 50 heavy machines which arrived in that western Nebraska town over the Burlington yesterday.

Break Isolation.

The first "cats" unloaded were routed to Antioch to break through drifted roads to ranches 20 miles north. Ranchers in that territory, near the Krause lakes, have been isolated since before Christmas. Only an occasional man on horseback has reached the area.

Other heavy bulldozers were assigned to an area south and east of Alliance toward the big Peterson ranches. A third project took the "cats" to the north and east of Alliance.

Other bulldozers went to Ashby, Bingham, Ellsworth and Hyannis, all areas, where blocked roads still had ranchers isolated except for planes.

"Haylift" Continues.

Meanwhile, the "haylift" continued operations in the state to keep livestock alive until units of the "bulldozer army" could break paths to the animals and bring food by sled or truck. Hay dropping flights were being made from Alliance and Kearney for western and central Nebraska and from O'Neill for northwestern and northcentral sections of the 40-county disaster area.

Many Ranchers In Garfield, Wheeler Counties Isolated

. . . Pilots Of "Dawn To Dusk" Airlift Report

(Special to The Star)

ORD, Neb.—Dozens of ranchers in the Garfield, Wheeler county area were reported Wednesday as still locked behind a wall of snow.

The 17 pilots operating three ski-equipped planes on the "dawn to dusk" airlift operations from the Ord airport were making upward of 50 missions a day to drop fuel, food and feed to ranchers in a 5-county disaster area.

Of these counties — Garfield, Wheeler, Loup, Valley, and Greeley—the first two were the hardest hit as sandhill trails and roads leading to ranches in those areas north of Burwell and Bartlett were still blocked.

North of Burwell, one small village—Valley View is still isolated by the snow blockade.

Meanwhile, a National Guard crew, operating in wild west style was rounding up 400 head of snowbound cattle on the Everett Satterfield ranch near Taylor today. The cattle were to be loaded aboard nine large semi-trailer trucks to be hauled to Springfield where they will be pastured out. Guardsmen reported that two or three trips will be needed to haul the herd. A like operation will be carried on later this week on the Forrest Peterson ranch.

Two Firms Bid On New Wells For City In Ashland Field

Two bids were received Wednesday on five new wells and four pumps at the Ashland field.

Kelly Well company at Grand Island bid $32,725 and Layne Western company at Omaha bid $31,249. City engineer's estimate had been $35,000. The bids go under study preparatory to the engineer making his recommendation to the council next Monday.

The new wells are the first step in a half-million dollar expansion of the city's water facilities. They are expected to boost Ashland field capacity from 13,500,000 to 20,000,000 gallons per day. Capacity of city wells other than those at Ashland is about 4,000,000 gallons per day; total tank storage capacity is about 27,000,000 gallons.

Consumption of water at peak loads last summer totaled more than 27,000,000 gallons.

STALIN

In his message Sunday, the Soviet premier answered four questions put by this correspondent regarding his willingness to discuss a "pact of peace" with Mr. Truman.

Stalin declared that he would be willing to meet President Truman again, and that the Soviet Union is ready to consider a declaration binding the U. S. and Russia never to wage war against each other.

The Soviet leader also disclosed that Russia would lift the blockade of Berlin if the western allies postponed the establishment of a separate German state, and he agreed to a Big Four meeting on the overall problem of Germany.

Stalin's Message

PARIS—(INS)—Herewith are the texts of the second exchange of messages between Premier Stalin and International News Service European General Manager Kingsbury Smith, in which the Russian leader offered to meet President Truman in the U.S.S.R., Poland or Czechoslovakia:

Smith's telegram, dated Jan. 31, 1949:

"Generalissimo Stalin,
"Kremlin, Moscow.
"Excellency:
"Official White House spokesman Charles Ross stated today that President Truman would be glad to have the opportunity to confer with you in Washington.
"Would your excellency be prepared to go to Washington for that purpose? If not where would you be prepared to meet the president?
"Most respectfully,
"KINGSBURY SMITH
"European General Manager
"International News Service."

Stalin's reply:

"To Kingsbury Smith,
"European General Manager International News Service.
"Your telegram of Feb. 1 received.
"I am grateful to President Truman for his invitation to come to Washington.
"For a long time it was my wish to visit Wahsington and at one time I mentioned this to President Roosevelt at Yalta and to President Truman at Potsdam.
"Unfortunately, at present I am unable to realize this wish of mine, since doctors strongly object to my undertaking any prolonged journey, especially by sea or air.
"The government of the Soviet Union would welcome the president's visit to the U.S.S.R. The conference could be arranged at the president's choice either in Moscow or Leningrad or in Kaliningrad, in Odessa, or at Yalta — provided of course that this does not go against the president's considerations of convenience.
"However, should this suggestion meet with an objection, the meeting could be arranged at the president's discretion in Poland or Czechoslovakia.
"Respectfully,
"(Signed) J. STALIN.

Omaha's 13-Inch Snow Broke Record

OMAHA—(AP)—The Jan. 27-28 snowfall of 13.1 inches broke all records for a 24-hour period, but January temperatures were mild compared to 1888, according to the weather bureau.

Meteorologist E. F. Stapowich said the average temperature was 17.4 degrees or 3.5 degree below normal. But in 1888, he said the average was 8.2 degrees. Precipitation totaled 3.70 inches, three inches above normal, snowfall for the month totaled 17.5 inches, well above the normal of 6.4 inches.

Amen To Church Meeting In Cleveland

BAND ON UNION

would specifically restore federal precedence over state laws in the field of union security arrangements—including the closed shop, in which only union members are hired. This would apply only in interstate commerce; states could still forbid closed shops in work affecting only commerce within a state.

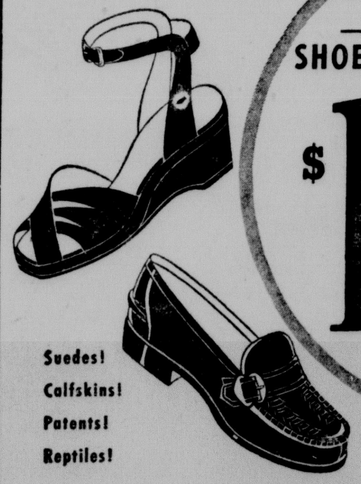

A number of states have banned such arrangements, and the Supreme court recently upheld those bans. The Taft-Hartley law, which the Truman bill would replace, gives precedence to the states in such matters.

The board official argued for the continuation of a five-man NLRB in place of the three-man agency which existed during the 12 years of the Wagner Act. The administration's proposed law would continue the larger body, and Herzog argued that it was more efficient, and able to dispose of 23 per cent more cases than the three-man board.

Workers Brave Zero Temps To Thaw Out Water Tower

Discovers 55 Feet Solid Ice In Tank

Dwight's Telephone Service Is Still Out

(Special to The Star)

DWIGHT, Neb. — Only telephone service remained out here today—an inconvenience to the town's 294 citizens, but only minor as compared to the town's plight last week.

Following the recent sleet storm this Butler county community was minus both electric power and telephone service plus the added trouble of a frozen water tower.

A crew of five men from the George Zieg company at York came here Sunday and were able to drill through the 55 feet of solid ice in the tower. It was a "cold job" for the men who worked in near-zero temperatures.

The town was without a water supply for two days out of the four that the tower was frozen. After electric power was restored, an electric pump kept the citizens supplied with water.

The elevated water storage tank is approximately 137 feet high. A call for help was sent out of Dwight to the York company via shortwave radio.

A spokesman of the Zieg company issued this warning Wednesday to water commissioners of other small communities:

"Keep the water moving in your water towers to avoid any freezing conditions."

Knight Hits Dr. Morey's Assertions

Teachers Colleges Lack Fundamental Courses, He Says

Chancellor John L. Knight of Nebraska Wesleyan university Wednesday struck out at some advocates of allowing state teachers colleges to grant liberal arts degrees in a letter to Dr. Victor P. Morey of Wayne State Teachers college.

In the letter, read before the Wesleyan faculty meeting Wednesday afternoon, Chancellor Knight questioned assertions Dr. Morey made last week that " . . . the faculties of teachers colleges are better trained than the average staff of other colleges offering liberal arts works . . ." and the proposal that, " . . . liberal arts degrees can be provided (in state teachers colleges) without adding a single course or raising the cost to taxpayers."

'Comparison Unfair.'

The chancellor pointed out that such schools as Doane, Duschene, Hastings, Midland, and Nebraska Wesleyan are members of the North Central association in good standing, have well-trained faculties, and can claim records of high academic standing and long educational servitude.

"Comparisons are often unfair," he said, "and in this case the facts scarcely warrant the contrast."

Relative to the second statement, Dr. Knight commented that, "a cursory glance at the curriculum of each of the four teachers colleges indicates a lack of fundamental courses in philosophy, psychology, and general humanities which should be basic to a good liberal arts training."

"A degree," he declared, "must be representative of the educational experience of its recipient. A liberal education implies a certain non-professional bias to curriculum, administration, policy and total campus activity."

'Defensible' Proposal.

The chancellor termed the proposal "defensible" in terms of "more efficient use of facilities and of offering broader educational service to the youth of Nebraska."

Chancellor Knight asserted that he would not take a position against the proposal in terms of "maintaining the status quo of higher education in Nebraska" nor "on grounds of the vested interests."

"Whether or not the teachers colleges should be empowered to grant degrees in liberal arts is a matter for ultimate decision by the legislature," Drr. Knight said. "But in considering the matter it would be unfortunate to underestimate the educational role of the independent liberal arts colleges or neglect attention to fundamental educational principles which are necessarily involved."

Nebraska's Snow "False-Front" Beauty

By ODELL HANSON.
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

From the air, the snow-covered Nebraska lanscape is a thing of beauty.

But it's a false-front beauty, mocking the misery it cloaks.

The impression was gained Tuesday in a reconnaissance flight through the heart of the state's disaster area.

Study In White.

In five air hours covering more than 800 miles, newsmen saw hardly enough bare ground to fill a flower pot.

From Omaha, into the sandhills, through the Butte country in northwest Nebraska, across the desolate reaches of northern Nebraska, the earth is a study in white.

The enormity of the job which operations snowbound has undertaken is apparent.

A Job Until Spring.

Hundreds of miles of road are totally snow-blocked. Some show signs of having been opened at some time. Others show no trace of human effort. Only the fence lines point them out.

Even trunk roads and main state roads, although open, point up the fact that the snow battle may not be fully won until spring. Huge cuts slice through drifts, standing ready to catch any new blowing snow.

The reconnaissance flight, with Capt. William Koenig of Major General Lewis A. Pick's staff as observer, was undertaken to ascertain the transportation situation on the Burlington railroad and state highway No. 2 to Alliance and Crawford, and the status of the Chicago and North Western railroad from Chadron eastward to Valentine.

Re-Drifting On Lines.

The North Western rail line was found to be blocked a distance of about 21 miles between Eli and Nenzel in Cherry county. Snowplow crews were working toward each other from east and west.

As late as last Saturday, this line was blocked between Hay Springs and Crookston, a distance of about 125 miles

Walls of snow 25 feet high flank the tracks in the area between Chadron and Valentine. From the air, the wedge snowplows appeared to be having trouble getting rid of the snow re-drifted in these deep cuts.

Sight Wrecked Snowplows.

Just west of Cody, a lifeless locomotive and a snowplow lay overturned beside the right of way—mute evidence of the tough battle against drifts. Farther west, another wrecked snowplow lay ditched.

But there was evidence, too, that operations snowplow is in gear. Trains and trucks carrying bulldozers were sighted, headed for Alliance and moving toward Crawford in extreme northwest Nebraska.

Highway crews and snowplows were seen at work. From the air, the job ahead looked insurmountable in places.

Hundreds of cattle dotted the snowy landscape. Some had access to haystacks. Others had no visible source of feed

From the air, there was no telling the situation of individual farms and ranches, where occupants of many of them had reached the outside.

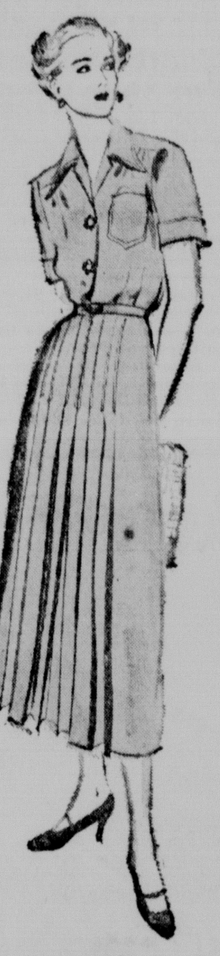

Other farm places, some of them far removed from main roads, gave no such encouraging evidence.

Away from the soot of the city, snow-covered Nebraska is beautiful because there are so few man-made blemishes. And it's an area of distress for the same reason.

Heavy License Sales

Five hundred and eighty-four plates were sold on the last day of the month and heavy sales are expected during the next few days, the treasurer said.

Erasure Of Luxury Tax Is Urged

. . . By Rep. Martin

WASHINGTON—(AP)— House Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) today proposed that congress cut most excise taxes back to pre-war levels.

These are the levies, sometimes called "luxury" taxes, on theater and movie tickets, railroad fares, furs, luggage, cosmetics and telephone bills.

Martin announced he has drawn legislation to cut back these taxes. He issued a statement saying, "congress and the administration can no longer justify the maintenance of high war-time excise rates on a few products of industry."

Martin's bill skips whisky and tobacco in the list of excises he would slash. The liquor levy would remain at $9 a gallon, instead of reverting to the pre-war $4 a gallon. Tobacco taxes would stay where they are.

Youths Sentenced For Shop Break-In

Two Lincoln youths were sentenced Wednesday by District Judge Ralph P. Wilson in connection with the Jan. 9 burglary of an implement shop at 101 West South street.

Melvin G. Barnes, 19, 2029 M, charged with burglary, was given a one-to-two-year sentence in the state reformatory.

Martin Stokke, 21, 1632 O, charged as an accessory after the fact, was sentenced to the county jail for one year.

According to police records, tools valued at $200 and two drills given a total value of $72 were taken from the shop during the break-in.

With Good Luck Roads Should Be Opened By Fourth Of July

. . . Snowbound Ewing Ranchwoman Writes

Like dozens of other ranchers in the O'Neill-Ewing area, Mr. and Mrs. James Hawk have been snowbound for more than 35 days.

Their only contact with the outside world until this week was either by phone or a small plane that flew out from O'Neill as weather and time permitted.

Typical of the hardships and personal comments of these ranchers are the following exerpts from Mrs. Hawk's letter to Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Swift, 3018 S street.

Isolated Since Christmas.

Isolated by drifts that ranged up to 20 feet on their small ranch near Ewing, Mrs. Hawk, writing by gas light, penned these notes on the storm.

"With good luck, they should get the roads open by Fourth of July...

"I haven't been off the place since Thursday before Christmas and from the looks of things I'll be here a while longer...

60 Inches Of Snow.

"We have had 60 inches of snow since Nov. 17, and I think we still have 59 inches of it left with more than 36 inches on the level...

"We had 18 inches of snow during the Nov. 17 storm, so you can perhaps faintly imagine what its like now. It was 27 below at Ewing...

"In the first storm—November 17—we couldn't get out to feed the cattle for two days...You couldn't see anywhere...We were in town the night before and came home about 11 o'clock, everything was fine, then the wind and snow came ...We kept cows in day and night and carried water to them...There was no report of this storm coming...I have never seen anything like it and don't want to see any more.

Mother Of Four Missing.

"We are all scared when we see a cloud come up since we have so much snow already...

"But west of here its much worse...Seems as if southeast of O'Neill Julia Beelart Ryan disappeared on Thursday before Christmas...She was the mother of four children ... Folks think she will be found in some snowdrift west of here when this snow melts..."

"Doesn't do any good to clear the roads. They fill up right behind the snowplow...I don't think I've ever shoveled so much snow in all my days...We shovel a wide path to the chicken coop so we can carry two buckets then snow comes and blows again and we have it all to do over...

"Jim went out once by plane. We have plane service here anytime they can fly...Don't know what we would do without it... Yesterday we had groceries, stock salt, oyster shells for chickens and cream cans brought out and we sent in 40 gallons of cream in two trips...I have eggs all over the place...

"It takes almost two-thirds of a day to get a load of hay and feed the cattle...It seems like we had ought to get use to it but some how we can't...The car is just drifted under out in front of the house...hasn't been used since Dec. 23.

Station Break-In Probed By Police

Police, Wednesday were investigating a break-in at the Collins Standard service station at Forty-eighth and Baldwin streets Tuesday night.

According to police entrance to the station was gained by breaking a pane of glass from a rest-room window and unfastening the window.

The loss reported was confined to the contents of a March of Dimes container and six tire tubes. $5 to $8 was taken from the dimes container, and the six tire tubes were valued at $18.

Truman Calls For Planning To Head Off A Depression

WASHINGTON—(AP) —President Truman, the "busted merchant" of 1921, believes the United States can head off economic disaster.

And, he says, it must not only do that, but must follow through with the job of "world planning."

"I think that before any disaster with which we may be faced comes about," said Mr. Truman, "we will be in a position to meet it."

He voiced his thoughts at a dinner of the National Planning association last night in an extemporaneous talk that was alternately humorous and deadly serious.

Efforts to make government serve the people more efficiently, Mr. Truman said, go hand in hand with economic planning to avert the disaster of depression.

He recalled he was a partner in a haberdashery store in Kansas City in 1921 when a depression came along.

The "busted merchant," he said got into politics and ran for county judge against "a very able and distinguished banker—and won the election."

He was working in a bank in 1907 in Kansas City, he said at another point, when "we had a bankers panic, which was one of the funniest ones" ever, since "nobody understood the cause—the why or the wherefore of it."

The president spoke of the dark days from 1929 through 1932, of earlier depressions, and said planners, in and out of government, are working to prevent a recurrence of disaster.

"But, when we talk about planning the things we want to do economically, we are charged with being communists and fellow travelers," he said. He remarked there is a distinction between a "planned economy" and a "controlled economy."

STATE'S BUDGETS SOARING

Still Rising From Record Highs Of Recent Years

CHICAGO— (AP) — Budget requests made by a number of governors showed today the cost of state government is still going up up from the record highs of the last few years.

New York has the biggest population of any state and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has asked the legislature for a record $936,200,000 to run the state during the 1949-50 fiscal year beginning April 1. This compares with $812,000,000 provided in the 1948-49 budget.

Nebraska's 1947-49 budget totaled $109,219,000. Governor Peterson has recommended $131,201,000 for the 1949-51 biennium.

Pennsylvania also will lay out more money than it ever has before if the recommendations of Gov. James H. Duff are followed. He asked a $988,196,350 two-year budget. Duff's 1947-49 budget was $857,422,139, but he later reported actual expenditures of slightly more than $1,000,000,000.

More In Illinois.

Illinois, the third biggest state, has yet to hear from its new governor, Adlai E. Stevenson. But Illinois spending the last two years ran close to the billion mark, and costs for the next biennium are expected to be heavier.

Gov. Earl Warren of California submitted a budget of more than a billion dollars, $1,060,187,939—an increase of $140,244,652 over the current budget. Of the new budget, $912,278,955 actually is for operating expenses and local assistance. The remaining $147,908,944 is for capital outlay and will be paid from money saved since 1943 for state building purposes.

Missouri, Connecticut and North Carolina all plan record spending ahead. Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri budgeted $559,077,311 for the coming biennium compared with $539,038,651 for the previous two years.

Iowa Gov. William S. Beardsley recommended an annual budget of $93,610,379 or the next two years compared with $76,060,732 spent each year of the past biennium.

Them Thar Hills

Ben Sallows is a man of action, generally in the right direction. A little over a year ago he got to brooding about the rank injustice to the Nebraska sandhills of a name both depressing and deceiving to the stranger a thousand miles away. He decided it was time to do something about the two "d's" so he came up with a suggestion that hereafter unto the end of time the sandhills be rechristened "the Cattle Hills."

The more Mr. Sallows thought about the new name, the more appealing it became. Cattle hills signify grass grows, not two but a thousand blades where only one grew before, and anyone familiar with the region knows that the sandhills are grass-covered. Even Hollywood, whose daily thought runs to other things, found that out, and made a picture "Sea of Grass." Mr. Sallows, being a man of action, did a practical thing. He wrote to his good friend, Senator Bill Hern, and Mr. Hern put the letter on the cattle hills into the legislative record.

But Mr. Sallows reckoned not with one Sam McKelvie. Isolated by sunshine in the Arizona desert, former Governor McKelvie, was apprised of the astounding news, via telegram from a near neighbor a hundred miles to the west, voicing opposition to the change. Mr. McKelvie grabbed a typewriter and pounded out this:

"Being out of Nebraska as this is received and not well in touch with current affairs, I am unable to account for this unless it emanates from the legislature. In any case it is unthinkable that anyone would make such a proposal. The sandhills of Nebraska is the most widely-known range country in the United States and the beef cattle from this region are most popular. That does not come about by chance. It results from the excellence of the grasses and the cattle, and the thousands of dollars that have been spent through the years of publicizing them. The Sandhills Cattle association has been most active in this during the decade of its existence, but it results too from the local residents in all walks of life, and the thousands of cattle feeders from all parts of the United States who make annual pilgrimages to this incomparable range region to see and buy replacement stock for their feed yards. It is inconceivable that anyone would be so inconsiderate of the hard-earned rights of the residents of the sandhills as to deprive them of the benefits that logically accrue from the popularity and use of a name that for generations has been nationally known and respected."

Aye, and venerated!

So sandhills it is, and sandhills it shall remain.

One of the earliest sandhillers a few years ago expounded a novel theory. When he holed up in the hills they were largely an ocean of sand, covered in summer by grass. Year after year the grass got in its work. It flourished and grew, died and rotted, and in time the glistening white of the sand gave way to the enrichment of rotted grasses. It is his story, and he insists that actually the soil itself revealed a change as a result of its grassy covering. We know there is a piquancy to the name sandhills, and a beauty to the country itself. Sandhills or cattle hills, they symbolize the most dependable range country in the United States; for half a century and more they have helped to feed a world.

In Informal Spirit

It is a wee bit difficult to weigh Stalin's reputed desire to meet with President Truman for the specific purpose of unraveling the misunderstanding that exists between the Russians and the United States, to promote world peace. Kingsbury Smith is chief of the European bureau of International News Service, one of the wire services coming to The Lincoln Star. Mr. Smith informs Mr. Stalin that Charles Ross, executive secretary in the White House, had indicated Mr. Truman would be happy to confer with Premier Stalin in Washington. "Would your excellency be prepared to go to Washington for that purpose?" Mr. Smith inquires of Stalin. "If not where would you be prepared to meet the president?"

Stalin's reply: An expression of gratitude for Mr. Truman's invitation, a long desire to visit Washington, voiced first to the late President Roosevelt at Yalta, and to Mr. Truman at Potsdam, a sharp regret that Mr. Stalin's doctors object to any long journey, especially by sea or air, a cordial welcome for Mr. Truman either in Moscow, Leningrad, Odessa, Yalta, or if that is not convenient, in Poland or Czechoslovakia.

In May Mr. Truman will be 65 years of age; late last year Mr. Stalin observed his 69th birthday. The state of physical health of any individual does not arrange itself by calendar, by incident of birth. Mr. Stalin is five years Mr. Truman's senior approximately, and five years, especially on the descent of the western slopes may mean much in physical stamina. But Mr. Truman journeyed to Potsdam, and the late Mr. Roosevelt journeyed to Yalta, all for the purpose at individual physical sacrifice to meet with Mr. Stalin, who when the meeting got under way was plenty tough and mentally alert.

That is not all that is screwy about this business of recent days. Mr. Smith is to be commended for his enterprise as a journalist in the truly noble venture of peaceful undertakings but he isn't the American state department and as a seasoned, widely-experienced newspaperman, he should know that meddling in the matter of American foreign policy is apart and distinct from the responsibility of getting the news. Between Mr. Hearst and Mr. McCormick we have too many unofficial ambassadors, perhaps, men overwhelmed with weight that rests upon their shoulders.

There are so many avenues open to Mr. Stalin to give convincing proof of peaceful sentiments, of improving Russian-American relations, of clearing up a lot of the rubble that clutters the paths for genuine, honest relationships between the two great powers. First, without stepping a foot outside the Kremlin, under doctor's orders, Mr. Stalin could terminate the Berlin blockade. Second, again without stepping foot outside the Kremlin, Mr. Stalin could abandon the clear-cut pattern of Russian world aggression. Third, without stepping foot outside the Kremlin, Mr. Stalin could substitute for the present peace offensive, which daily falls more and more under suspicion as a subtle part of the continuing cold war, a genuine endeavor charted through the ordinary channels of diplomacy, communicating his wishes directly to Mr. Truman through the medium of the Russian embassy in Washington, by doing what governments invariably do, and by doing what on occasions Mr. Stalin has done whenever the Russian government saw fit to lodge a protest with Washington.

We would like to think that long overdue understanding between Russia and the United States can be achieved. We know that it is possible when and if Russia itself reveals the desire. We do object to transacting business of vital importance in the present methods.

Anybody's Opinion

"Congrats" and all that to five beautiful but not dumb Iowa co-eds, cramming for a test covering the subject of Russian foreign policy. They had been warned they could anticipate a question:

"Who would succeed to rule Russia if Stalin and the politburo were all killed?"

That's a good question, good enough to be part of a cold war if there is anything to this notion of the power of suggestion. The gals' technique was not bad. They decided to call the Kremlin. They got as far as London, and there the chase for knowledge ended, unfortunately. Imagine Stalin's surprise if the telephone should have rung, and answering it himself he would hear an appealing voice inquiring:

"Who will rule Russia, Uncle Joe, if you and your pals should get bumped off?"

We are reminded that more than once the course of history has hung upon a woman's petticoats.

. . . TO REMAIN GREAT

Noting President Truman's plea for extension of river authorities, the Christian Science Monitor observes that "within hours the National Association of Electrical companies, the registered lobby for private power interests, issued a statement condemning the action as the first step 'to create a super-state.'" It is an issue, the Monitor says, likely to remain before the American people for a good many years. "There are practically no informed doubts that the United States must energetically conserve certain of its resources and develop others if it is to remain great. Nor is there much questioning that the tasks naturally group themselves around great river systems."

The Monitor goes to the heart of this issue, to which attention was directed in this column last week, with this language:

"Whether the primary task be to control floods and build soil, or to irrigate dry lands, or to deepen channels to aid navigation, the chief devices are dams —big dams and little dams. Dams can produce power —electric power. And this electric power offers to the government and to the taxpayer one of the few means of getting direct return on a mountain of bread cast upon the waters. To the residents of the valleys it represents, also, a boon to homes and farms and an incentive to industry. From the average citizen's standpoint it is at least reasonable to ask whether power thus produced from public-owned rivers and public-built facilities should be sold back to the people for private profit."

The issue can be simplified: It is the taxpayers' money, in the beginning which creates this electric energy by drawing on the streams for it. Uncle Sam, back of him the American people, provide the generating facilities. The private companies do not spend a dime in the traditional sense to build them. Yet after the hydroelectric developments are completed they insist the electricity thus provided shall be turned over to them for distribution, at a fat profit. Otherwise, they say, America moves in the direction of the super-state.

That is, at best, a tortured argument. The only opportunity the American people have to regain the original vast sums invested in river valley developments in a very large sense comes from the direct sale of electricity created by this program of conservation of resources. The government must have a profit on that electricity in order to liquidate the debt incurred in creating it, the cheapest electricity which the consumer can buy, serving multiple purposes of water storage, flood control, irrigation and navigation in its creation. What the utility proposal adds up to is to add a profit to a profit—two profits—denying the consumer the major benefits of cheap electricity.

The battle lines are forming and the issue is one of the most vital in the matter of domestic progress that comes before the congress.

OFF THE RECORD

By ED REED

"He looks to me like he has a complete nervous breakdown!"

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One of the famous names of France is "Quai d'Orsay," which actually means "Dock of Orsay," but which has come to mean the French foreign office, because of its location alongside the dock of Orsay.

Almost unknown is a railroad station alongside the foreign office called "Gare d'Orsay." It is a little-used station. No important persons ever arrive there. But just a month ago this station became most important to the American people.

Just a stone's throw from it at the Quai d'Orsay, the gentlemen in the gray-striped pants continued busy at their professional task of maintaining the proper relations between countries. But at the Gare d'Orsay a new kind of foreign relations was taking shape —a project in amateur diplomacy straight from the hearts of the French people.

A PITCHED BATTLE took place among members of the inner circle of the White House, Pearson says, over blue-penciling the injunction ban on strikes endangering public health and welfare, with Clark Clifford (above) heading the group insistent the injunction clause be left in.

For on the platform of the Gare d'Orsay were piled thousands of gifts for the Merci Train, which arrives in New York Harbor today, as France's gesture of gratitude to the American people.

At Christmas time — the deadline for gifts to the Merci Train—the Gare d'Orsay was by all odds the busiest place in France. More than anything else it resembled a child's notion of Santa Claus's workshop.

There were dolls and dishes, historical documents, and a Rodin statue so precious it should have been in a museum. There were busts of Benjamin Franklin and busts of Franklin Roosevelt; paintings by the French masters, lacework and fancy silk dresses; and battle-torn flags from ancient wars. There were gifts from high personages and gifts from school children. There was a Napoleonic coach and the first motorcycle ever built; the flag that flew from the Eiffel tower when General Patton entered in 1944 and the flag that flew over Verdun in 1918.

And all of them said, in words or in spirit, "Merci, America."

A Paris business firm, carrying out this spirit of friendship, undertook to crate the gifts, without charge. It little dreamed what it bargained for. Gifts poured in from all corners of France, literally by the thousands every day. Last estimate is that the gifts—ranging from a tiny spoon to a giant bronze school bell—total 100,000.

The Gare D'Orsay, before the train's departure, was packed and jammed. Crates were everywhere. On the walls of the station were signs—"Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas ."And so on around the wall of the station to "West Virginia and Wyoming." Piled up by state were the gifts which the French committee believed most appropriate for each.

Finally they were all loaded into the old but now freshly painted boxcars labeled "40 Hommes, 8 Chevaux," which American soldiers knew so well in World war I. Then, after a journey to Havre, they were hoisted aboard the SS Magellan, which today steams up New York harbor to salute the Statue of Liberty—the only similar gift of friendship from the people of any nation to the people of the United States.

Only the palace guard know it, but the administration's new labor bill was held up at the last minute by President Truman himself so that three major changes could be made.

One was a strong injunction clause to enable the government to crack down on John L. Lewis or any other labor leader who staged a strike endangering the national health and welfare.

This was stricken out at the last minute.

Also, the cooling off period for a threatened strike was raised from 20 to 30 days.

Here's the inside story of how the changes came about:

One hour before Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin was scheduled to appear before the senate labor committee on Friday morning, Charles Murphy, the White House legislative representative, reported to Truman that there was still disagreement on the strike injunction clause.

Truman immediately instructed Secretary Tobin to cancel his appearance before the senate committee and to meet at the White House at 3 p. m. Friday. At the ensuing conference were: The president himself, Tobin, Murphy, Attorney General Tom Clark, assistant John Steelman and Clark Clifford.

Ensued a pitched battle over blue-pencilling the injunction ban on strikes endangering public health and welfare.

Clifford and justice department lawyers —except for Attorney General Clark—contended the injunction clause should be left in the bill. Steelman and Tobin wanted it out, argued that it was a gratuitous prejudgment of labor.

"We've got to assume that labor has grown up and will carry its responsibilities," asserted Steelman.

Attorney General Clark agreed with him, said labor should be given a chance to co-operate voluntarily with the government in preventing crippling strikes with no legal club over its head.

As the argument continued, the president, who originally favored injunctions, finally agreed that it might arouse too much labor resentment, do more harm than good.

Clark Clifford disagreed.

"Some of these labor leaders have a complex about injunctions," he declared. "But the great majority of labor won't be affected by this provision. And we've got to protect the government and the people against production shutdowns in these very critical times."

Finally Truman settled it.

"If you knew the history of injunctions and the hardships they caused labor as I do," he said, in effect, "you would take a different slant on the subject. I realize as much as anybody that it is necessary to use the injunction at times—and I have used it on several occasions myself in serious emergencies—but I don't blame labor leaders for protesting against the practice.

"In the old days," continued the president, in effect, "before labor's rights were recognized by the New Deal, the injunction was used too often as a weapon of discrimination against labor, instead of for the public good."

JUST FOLKS

GROUND HOG DAY

This is the day when the woodchuck scrambles
Out of his hole and the meadow rambles.
Should he see his shadow where he is creeping,
Back he'll go to stay six weeks sleeping.

Wise little woodchuck, this I wonder:
Do you know more than we men who blunder?
Is your shadow to you a trust expressing
Too deep for humans who trust to guessing?

Is it a fact or fable? Does woodchuck knowledge
Excel that taught in our greatest college?
Does the woodchuck's shadow mean winter's staying?
Or, is that just a thought which men are saying?

David City Storms Worst In 25 Years

DAVID CITY, Neb.—(AP)—According to utilities managers in David City, recent storms have been the worst in more than a quarter of a century.

Vern Campbell, manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company office here, says telephone lines suffered the worst damage he has seen in 35 years in Butler county. Harold Reed, area manager for the Consumers Public Power district, says damage to Consumers lines is the worst he has seen in more than 30 years as a lineman.

PRICE OF HAY.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I guess I wasn't so far off balance when I stated in a former article that hay had gone up $10 per ton in the storm-stricken areas of Nebraska. Reports through the press last night stated that hay in the Broken Bow and Seneca areas had gone from $13 to $30 per ton, a raise of $17. That stuff about a $4 per ton raise was just a lot of soft-pedaling.

BUS COURTESY.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: While so much is being said about our city bus transportation I want to have my say. I was coming home on the Havelock bus the day of the storm. Because I had had to go uptown on business it made me real mad to hear the driver fuss and jaw all the way out, saying he wished it would snow four or five feet so maybe people would stay home where they belonged. He also said he hoped the wind would come up, then people couldn't go out. He would have had to make those trips whether anyone rode or not, so I guess he did not want our business. I could not understand that at all. Some of the bus drivers are so nice and will gladly wait if they see us running to catch the bus, but not all of them.

BURDEN ON TAXPAYERS.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It appears that the city council in its continuous criticism of the operations of the Lincoln City Lines and the apparently unwarranted prosecution of an employe for reckless driving, is merely offering advance excuse for their plot for a new way to spend more dollars. If the city were to take over the management of buses it would cost the taxpayer from then on—ask anyone who has lived in a metropolis where the buses are city owned and/or operated. As it is, the City Lines pay taxes to us. It would take a huge organization of politically employed people to administer the affairs, let alone a tremendous cost of operations to the people. It is doubtful if many members of the city council are patrons of the bus lines, and there appears to be very little criticism of the service from the patrons but much criticism of the council! This is in view of the fact that the writer does not have a single friend or relaitve in the employment of the Lincoln City Lines—but is a bus patron. Is it correct that the city agreed to keep the streets cleared for the bus company? Possibly the company should have higher fares.

THE TWO FOUNDATIONS.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the closing part of the Sermon on the Mount we have two pictures, one of a house built on a rock and one built on the sand. Here is the one built on a rock:

"He that heareth these words of mine and doeth them obeys—is like a wise man who built his house on a rock; and the rain descended and the flood came, and the wind blew and beat upon that house, and it fell not; for it rested upon a rock foundation."

And here is the one built upon the sand:

"He that heareth these words of mine and doeth them not disobeys—is like a fool who built his house on the sand: and the rain descended and the flood came, and the wind blew and beat upon that house, and it fell and great was the fall of it."

If I were an artist I would like to paint those pictures and hang them in every house and public building in the land, for they are true alike of individuals and of nations. The people who build their nation on Christ and His word will stand, while those who reject Christ and His word will fall. Of the great nations only two remain, Russia and the United States. Russia, with her communist government founded on atheism, has certainly rejected Christ and is therefore bound to fall. What about the United States? Are we a Christian nation? I wonder. We had better study the pictures of the two foundations and profit by it lest our nation, too, crumble and fall.

THE SALARY INCREASE FEVER

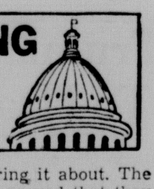

Seward, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: "Sorry Voter" certainly has said a mouthful. The gentlemen who seek office spend hundreds of dollars to get a job that doesn't pay a living wage, so they say. Why do they fight to keep willing people who would make good representatives from taking these jobs? If memory serves me right, these same men were going around telling the people how they could save us money. I stood on our courthouse lawn and listened to Mr. Peterson tell us that Mr. Sorrell's theory was screwy, that we couldn't get these good farm-to-market roads as we couldn't make the people share that burden. But now he asks and demands more funds from the legislature than Frank Sorrell said the roads could be built for. Sorrell was a gent that had been around the state house for several years, long enough to find how the boys were spending the state's money. He saw loopholes, I mean the large gaps. What qualified Mr. Peterson for election? The boys that vote for an increase in their salaries don't provide a way for the taxpayer to pay it. Oh no, they buck every time labor or merchants want an increase. Where do you fellows think money comes from? You wanted that job, now work at it and take what comes or go home, get a job and try to pay the taxes.

W. E. DAVID.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—With the inauguration here the other day of Adlai Stevenson as governor, a current of hope went out across the prairies and through the towns and cities of this most popular state in the union. It is the hope for good and honest government of a people who have endured much in recent years.

Marquis Childs

But no one knows better than the keen-minded new governor how difficult is the job he has undertaken. And no governor, it might be added, has taken office here in Springfield with a greater determination to clean house and end the graft, corruption and inefficiency that have afflicted this state.

Governor Stevenson's majority of 575,000 was the greatest ever given any candidate in Illinois' history. That is one reason national attention centered on him the day after election.

Then, too, the public always likes the drama of a David standing up to a Goliath. That is clearly Governor Stevenson's role in the face of deeply entrenched interests, political and private, that prefer to see things as they are.

The new governor's inaugural address was a remarkable document. It was temperate, moderate, free of any noisy partisanship. But it went to the heart of what is wrong with the hodgepodge of state and local government, criss-crossing, duplicating, leaving every kind of rat hole for the crooked and the inefficient and those who benefit from their crookedness.

That is the state constitution, which is a strait jacket making reform and change almost impossible. As was said recently, the only way in which the constitution squares with the facts of modern life is in its definition of the state boundaries.

Governor Stevenson proposes a constitutional convention to consider a thorough revision of this 78-year-old document, which has not been amended in nearly 50 years. Such a convention presumably would end the conflicts of authority and make modern, efficient government possible.

But because of the technicalities specified in connection with the popular vote necessary to approve such a convention, it will be difficult to bring it about. The voters of Illinois proved that they could get angry and incriminate enough to throw out a cynical and corrupt administration with such an outpouring of votes as had never been seen.

Now they must show sufficient interest to give the new governor power to make essential changes. Other states in recent years have successfully revised horse-and-buggy charters.

In his inaugural address Governor Stevenson urged consideration of a state fair employment practices law to end "economic discrimination upon racial or religious ground." As he said, the whole world is watching us to see whether we mean the fine words that we speak about democracy and equality of opportunity.

Later at a press conference Governor Stevenson said he actively will back an FEPC bill in the assembly. New York state already has such a law, which was passed during Governor Dewey's first term. So does New Jersey. A drive is on in Pennsylvania to bring adoption there on a fair employment practices statute.

"It is one of the happy incidents of the federal system that a single courageous state may, if its citizens choose, serve as a laboratory to try novel social and economic experiments without risk to the rest of the country."

The laboratory test here is whether Governor Stevenson can restore something like decent and reasonably economical government. That certainly would be novel in Illinois after the holocaust of the Dwight Green administration. Probably no one ever will know how many millions went into kickbacks, graft and payoffs.

Given his own background in public life, in Washington during the war and then later in the United Nations, plus the disinguished record of his family in this state from the earliest day onward, it was inevitable after his victory that Governor Stevenson should be talked about as a democratic presidential candidate for 1952. But having got some idea of the size of the task immediately ahead of him, he is doing his best to dampen such talk. There are a great many obstacles to be gotten over before 1952.

40 Seek Opening For City Meter Reader

Ray Ramsay, city personnel director, wasn't run ragged Tuesday but he was a busy fellow.

The city water and light department wanted a meter reader so Ramsay advertised. Forty men answered.

Ramsay says that number of applicants is a little unusual but it reflects seasonal unemployment of men in construction work. Sometimes he has trouble finding men.

"This time it was easy," observed Ramsay.

Suit Questions Valadity Of City Plumbing Law

A Lincoln man filed suit in District court Tuesday, questioning the validity of certain of the city's plumbing ordinances which prohibit anyone but licensed plumbers from installing plumbing.

Clifford L. Rein, in his petition, declared such provisions as arbitrary and unreasonable, and that they promote "monopoly, discrimination and restraint of trade."

His charges were directed at sections of the 1936 municipal code. In effect, he asks that private citizens be permitted to install their own plumbing if they operate in accordance with specifications.

2 Found Innocent On Driving Charge

District court juries Wednesday reversed two Municipal court convictions on drunk and driving charges, finding both appellants innocent.

Edgar G. Green, 68, 1687 Otoe, was found guilty in the lower court July 21. Ora Chad, 57, 1220 Knox, was found guilty July 10.

Both men had been fined $60 by Municipal Judge Edward Fisher, with six-month suspension of driver's license.

Norway Rebuffs Russia

Oslo Says Firmly She Will Study Joining Of West's Atlantic Pact

OSLO, Norway—(AP)—Norway has politely but firmly informed Russia it is necessary for her to seek "increased security" through defense co-operation, such as ties with the western powers.

The Norwegian reply to a Soviet note asking about Norway's position on the Atlantic security pact reassured Russia, however, that Norway would not grant bases on her soil to foreign powers unless she is attacked or threatened with aggression.

The U. S. state department said the United States hopes Norway soon will be brought into discussion of the Atlantic pact, which would link the defenses of the U. S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

U. N. Lacks Strength.

Norway said she will study the possibilities for joining a regional defense alliance with the Atlantic powers. The reply pointed to Norway's interdependence with the west and the fact that the country borders on the Atlantic ocean.

The Norwegian reply, delivered by Foreign Minister Halvard Lange to the Russian ambassador in Oslo yesterday, said Norway had hoped the United Nations would provide the strength necessary to maintain peace and security for the world, but this had not materialized.

Concern for her security, the reply said, had convinced Norway of the necessity to seek increased safety through regional defense co-operation.

Past Has Been Peaceful.

Attempts to create a defensive alliance of the three Scandinavian nations, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, failed, the note pointed out.

"Norway will make further studies to establish under which forms and conditions Norway possibly could participate in a regional security system," she said.

The reply said the Norwegian government felt a regional security pact would be within the frame of the U.N. charter and would be aimed at preventing aggression.

Norway said she and "Russia for ages always have been living in peace as neighbor countries."

The Russian note to Norway, inquiring whether Norway would grant bases to foreign powers, had pointed to the fact that Russia and Norway have a common frontier.

The Norwegian reply said she is "convinced the government of the U.S.S.R. is well acquainted with Norway's unbroken traditions in her work for peace and her will to remain in friendly relations to all peace-loving nations."

Receiving the bequests are: Comodore Prevey, brother; Mrs. Ida Prevey, sister-in-law; and Marjorie Crumb and Mercedes Dunn, nieces. The four are also named residuary heirs to the remainder of the estate. Seven grandchildren of the deceased brothers or sisters were granted bequests of $100 each.

Tryouts Begin On 'Christopher Bean,' Next Circlet Play

"The Late Christopher Bean," by Sidney Howard, has been selected by the Circlet theater for its March production. It is the story of a New England servant girl whose collection of paintings by a posthumously famous artist leads to on hilarious situation after another.

Tryouts, which are open to the public, will be held at the Cornhusker hotel at 7 p. m. on Feb. 3, 4 and 5. The following characters are needed:

Dr. Haggett, a man of about fifty.
Susan Haggett, a pretty girl of nineteen.
Abby, the Haggett's hired girl, age vaguely between youth and maturity.
Ada Haggett (about 26) who fancies her baby prettiness.
Mrs. Haggett, a small town Yankee housewife who has assumed "city" airs.
Warren Creamer, the village painter and paperhanger who is a personable youth in his early twenties.
Tallant, a smooth, youngish New Yorker.
Rosen an oily and affable gentleman of middle age.
Maxwell Davenport, an elderly and distinguished gentleman.

"The Late Christopher Bean" will be the fourth production of the Circlet theater this year. Director George Randol will be in charge of tryouts.

LOS ALAMOS, N. M.—(AP)—A book on the effects of atomic bombs will be issued during the next four months.

Dr. Joseph O. Hirschfelder, University of Wisconsin scientist in charge of the report, described it as "one of the most important documents on atomic energy since the Smyth report."

More than a score of persons are working on the 200-page document which the AEC says will be the first authoritative and detailed description of the effects of atomic weapons from blast, heat and radiation.

Elce Heads City Charter Committee

Tax Limitations Explained At First Meeting Of Group

The citizens charter advisory committee Tuesday night elected officers then heard city directors and the mayor present a financial picture.

The opening meeting of the committee selected by the council to study and advise on proposed amendments saw Charles Elce, University Place businessman, elected permanent chairman. H. J. Amen, former councilman and chairman of Sanitary district No. 1, is the group's new vice-chairman. Miss Lucille Ledwith was named secretary.

Both Elce and Mayor Clarence Miles emphasized the geographic selection of the committee "Many prominent names were passed up because it would have meant too many from one section of the city," Miles said.

Population Increase.

Mayor Miles asked the committee to refrain from argument until city officials presented the facts. "Then we hope you'll fire questions at us," he said. "Feel free to pry into anything you like."

Miles asked the committee to consider three things:

(1) The city's increased population since 1940 of about 25 per cent to the present approximate 110,000.

(2) Increase in city services incident to added population such as more fire and police protection, more need for street repair.

(3) The decreased purchasing power of the dollar.

No Package Offer.

"These amendments won't be a package deal," the mayor said. "We're not going to include an item favorable to the people in an amendment just to induce the voter to go along with it. Everything is going to be honest and above board."

Then Miles followed by Finance Director Theo Berg explained the two charter provisions which prevent the city from getting more money for general operating expenses; the dollar ceiling and the seven and three-quarters mills limit.

They both stated that the charter framers were looking ahead 10 years. "They apparently were afraid to permit a council to operate without a limit. But I've yet to see a council making a budget which didn't stare the voter in the face," Berg said. "They have to be able to justify expenditures."

Ceiling Reached.

They explained the limitations this way. In 1930 when the charter was drawn a limit of $800,000 was placed on the amount of money the city could collect. This limit increased $15,000 each year to $1,070,000 in 1948. The city could collect nothing more for general operating expenses.

Also the city must take the total valuation of real and intangible property as returned by the county assessor, multiply that figure by seven and three-quarters mills to obtain another ceiling.

Then whichever of the two figures is lower, the dollar limit or the mill levy figure, must be used as the maximum amount the city can collect for general operating expenses.

Miles said, "With more property coming onto the tax rolls, I am often asked why the city doesn't have more money to operate. If we had 100 times as much property we still wouldn't have a dime more to use because we cannot collect more than the dollar limit. I know of no other city which has a double limit like we have."

Berg demonstrated with a chart that in depression the rigid dollar ceiling is too high. From 1932 to 1948 the dollar ceiling was from a few thousands to $250,000 higher than the seven and three-quarters mills ceiling under which the city had to operate. "Even so," Berg said, "we actually levied less from 1932 to 1942 than we could have under the mill limit."

Berg stated that in good times the dollar ceiling is too low. Under the mill ceiling the city could have levied $1,896,000 in 1948 but because the dollar ceiling was lower could levy only $1,070,000.

He then gave figures to illustrate the rise in price of things the city buys. In 1949 high-test gasoline cost 14 cents per gallon the city now pay 25 cents. Fire hose cost 52 cents per foot in 1940 $1.17 now. "So actually, we have about $100,000 less purchasing power now than we had in 1940," Berg said.

Repair Costs Increase.

City Engineer D. L. Erickson described the cost rise in his department and the outlay for equipment repair because of its age. Repairs in the road department alone increased from $5,000 in 1942-3 to $18,000 in 1947-8. Of the 25 trucks the city owns, only three were purchased later than 1939.

Erickson told of $141,000 in federal money available for paving if the city had funds to match the U. S. dollars. Lack of matching funds in 1948 caused the city to lose the federal funds and Erickson says there is little prospect of matching money in 1949.

The committee agreed to meet every Tuesday night. Of the 85 members, 59 were present at the first meeting.

Northern Gas Company May Soon Expand

Appear Before FPC Members

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Northern Natural Gas Co., so three of its officials say, is ready to buy more than 50 per cent of the potential capacity of a new pipeline.

The projected $100,000,000 line would run from Louisiana to Iowa. The three representatives of the Omaha marketing firm serving distributors of 200 midwestern communities, testified before the federal power commission yesterday.

They said that Northern:

1. Is ready to spend $16,000,000 estimated necessary to expand its facilities to handle an additional 250,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

2. Has set up a rate schedule which will cover cost of the new facilities on a basis "fair and reasonable" to distributors.

3. Has conducted a survey which satisfied its experts that a ready market exists for the increased supply which it proposes to buy.

The Trunklines Gas Supply Co., Wilmington, Del., asked permission to construct the 768-mile 26-inch line from Lake Charles, La., to Keokuk county, Iowa.

J. F. Merrian, vice president of Northern Natural, testified he had negotiated contracts contingent upon construction of the line.

He estimated amounts needed above that already produced by Northern Gas at 182,000,000 cubic feet daily in 1951, 220,000,000 cubic feet in 1952 and 253,000,000 feet in 1953.

Larry Shomaker, sales superintendent of the Omaha firm, said distributors served by his company had assured him of need for these amounts.

Trunklines Vice President B. M. Bittison of Chicago said Northern's estimated requirements would take one-half to two-thirds of the proposed line's capacity.

Little Hope For School At Valentine

Committee Action Is Postponed; Chadron Station Considered

A new cattle-breeding experiment station at Fort Robinson is being considered by the University of Nebraska, Chancellor R. G. Gustavson said Tuesday.

He made the statement to the legislature's education committee which was hearing a bill to establish an agriculture school at Valentine and appropriate half a million dollars for it. The bill was postponed for a week, but little hope is held for its passage.

The chancellor said university officials are gathering facts to be considered before any action is taken.

Hanna's Statement Read.

If such a beef-cattle station were to be established, he told Sen. Dwight Burney's committee, the university would probably recommend that the sub-station now at Valentine should be closed.

Sen. Don Hanna of Valentine, who introduced the bill, was touring the snowbound area with other state officials. However, in a statement read by Chairman Burney, he explained that the state now owns about 1,000 acres near Valentine which are used partly for the sub-station. The station, Hanna said, is not doing much good at present.

What Sen. Hanna wants, according to the statement, is a school similar to the one at Curtis.

Curtis School a Problem.

The university, said Chancellor Gustavson, regards the Curtis school as a "very difficult problem." Since Curtis has no high school because of the ag school, it raises the question of whether the state wants to provide secondary education for some portions of the state and not for others.

Dr. Gustavson prefaced his remarks with the statement that he, as chancellor, did not care to take a stand for or against the measure.

Approved and moved to general file were two bills. One, LB 169, would permit a 12-mill levy for the aggregate county high school tax; the other, LB 168, reduces to 10 per cent the number of voters required to petition for the issuance of bonds for county high schools. A new ceiling of five per cent of the district valuation would also be set by the bill. The committee attached emergency clauses to both measures.

AN EXAMPLE—Emerging from the office of the Ainsworth Air Service on a path cut through a four to five foot snowdrift gives the governor's inspection party an indication of how the snow has piled in the emergency area. From left rear are State Sen. O. H. Person, Wahoo; Clyde Burdick, Ainsworth area engineer of the bureau of reclamation; Gov. Peterson, and State Sen. Don Hanna, Valentine rancher. At right rear is State Sen. Frank Nelson, O'Neill. (Staff Photo.)

FLIES IN TO BUY GROCERIES—Mrs. Glen Tracy, shown with Pilot Don Higgins of Ainsworth Air Service, stands at the Ainsworth airport, where she arrived for her first visit to town since Dec. 18. Higgins spotted a distress signal in the snow at the Higgins ranch about 20 miles south of Ainsworth. He landed and took Mrs. Tracy to town so she could buy groceries for the badly-diminished family larder. While in Ainsworth, Mrs. Tracy visited with her daughter, Dora Jean, 12, who was flown out three weeks ago to resume studies at the Johnstown school.

. . . Lauds "Marvelous Job" After Trip Over Blizzard Area

By GLENN SPEIDEL
Star Staff Member

"We are making good progress, but we still have a long way to go."

That was the way Gov. Val Peterson summed up the conditions in snowbound western Nebraska after an air trip Tuesday covering about 16 counties in the north and west part of the state.

However, the governor warned that the battle is far from being won and that it will not be won unless the vast far-flung army fighting the snow keeps working at top speed.

During a stop in Alliance near sundown Tuesday night, the governor said, "We simply cannot lick our problem here in Nebraska unless, first of all, every farmer and rancher does all he possibly can for himself; secondly, every city and village organize and push together in a common effort; and, thirdly, every county, state and federal agency hit the ball and hit it hard for 24 hours a day every day.

Cannot Let Down.

"There are thousands of miles of blocked roads in northern and western Nebraska," the governor said, "and each one of those roads is blocking families from town and needed supplies.

"It will be fatal if it is assumed that because the army is here the job is done, and it would be downright unfair to the army," he warned. "As the roads are opened, people living in outlying districts must get to town as soon as possible and lay in supplies and keep bringing in supplies as a safeguard against another storm.

"We simply cannot let down now just because we have had a day of sunshine and help is coming in from the outside," the governor stated.

Ainsworth, Alliance Stops.

In the party making the trip with the governor were Senators Don Hanna, Valentine; Frank Nelson, O'Neill, and O. H. Person, Wahoo, and about a dozen radio and newspaper men from Omaha and Lincoln. Flying in a National Guard C-47 and C-45, the party flew from Lincoln directly to Elgin, then followed highways 53 and 281 west and north to O'Neill. From O'Neill the route followed Highway 20 west over Bassett and Long Pine and the first stop was made at Ainsworth.

From Ainsworth the planes flew over Senator Hanna's ranch south of Valentine, then followed highway 20 west over Gordon, Rushville, Chadron, Hay Springs, Crawford and Harrison, then back southeast over Hemingford and landed at Alliance.

In the area covered by the flight, the snow appeared to be the deepest from Elgin northwest to Stuart, and in the area around Hemingford and in Sioux county.

All over the territory state, private, National Guard and Fifth army crews were working at top speed to open the roads.

Haystacks First Objective.

In the hay country around Ainsworth countless haystacks dotted the fields, completely isolated and out-of-reach of either cattle or man. In this area, as throughout the entire territory, country roads were left blocked as all efforts was centered on opening paths to the valuable hay.

In the places where paths had been cleared to the hay, ranchers were using hayracks and sleds to spread out the feed for the large herds of cattle. Although several large herds of cattle were seen that did not have any visible feed or water supply, in most cases the cattle were being fed and had available water.

All the way west from Elgin, were signs of bulldozer paths cut across the open country as many as three times and drifted shut again. In nearly all cases, however, the 'dozers were at it again, opening a new path alongside the drifted ones. On highway 20 west of O'Neill nearly all the traffic was made up of trucks carrying supplies and hay to the long-isolated ranch country.

Probably some of the deepest snow of the entire trip was seen in the area immediately around Harrison. At the west edge of Harrison, a Chicago & Northwestern train was dwarfed as it worked its way through a cut plowed through a snow-drift much higher than the train itself.

At Ainsworth, Mrs. Glenn Tracy was making her first visit to town since Dec. 18. She had been flown in from her ranch 20 miles south by a light plane from the Ainsworth airport. Mrs. Tracy said she had a cellar full of canned food put up last summer, but couldn't get to it because a 20-foot drift covered the cellar-entrance.

George Manes, operator of the Ainsworth airport said several light planes working out of there had delivered 5 and a half tons of cottonseed cake for cattle in the last two weeks. He said the pilots of the planes were finding more distress signals as food, fuel and medical supplies at outlying ranches dwindled.

Pilots Praised.

One such distress signal was sighted Tuesday morning at the Kenneth Sharp ranch near Norden. A light plane equipped with skies negotiated the landing at the Sharp home and was soon on its way back to Ainsworth to pick up the supplies needed. On the list were cocodiazine, B-complex vitamin tablets for the children, cough medicine, milk filters and sewing machine needles.

Mrs. Tracy said she and her husband had approximateiy 200 head of cattle on their ranch, but had suffered no losses as yet. She had high praise for the pilots of the light planes working out of Ainsworth, saying "These men are doing a marvelous job."

Throughout the territory the ability of the ranchers to care for themselves was seen by the snake-like tracks leading out from the ranch homes, across the snow-covered wastes to haystacks, where the hay was loaded on racks or sleds and then spread out in long trails.

Equipment Arrives.

At Alliance Governor Peterson was met by Capt. Wayne Deaver, commanding officer of the Alliance National Guard company, who has been fighting the blizzard since Jan. 2. Governor Peterson also conferred with Herbert Lippick, who came from Denver to take charge of operations out of Alliance for General Lewis A. Pick.

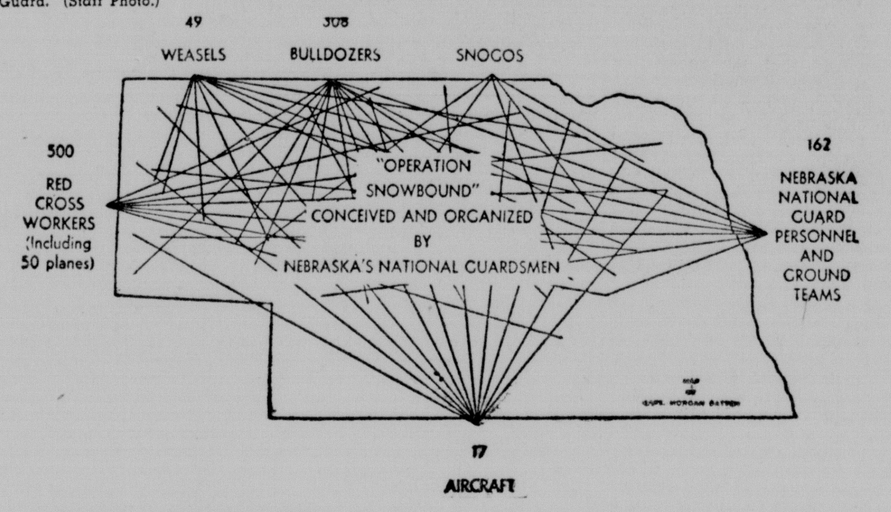

Lippick said the first trainload of snow-fighting equipment got to Alliance from Denver at 6 a. m., Tuesday and was at work two hours later south and east of the city.

The equipment included three complete units of eight to ten bulldozers, two patrol graders and serving equipment. The units were working mostly on private property, he said, opening paths to hay and to roads leading to town.

In both Alliance and Ainsworth residents of the snow-bound territory have high hopes of breaking loose from the bonds of the snow-blockade before too long. They are confident that given a fair break with the weather, they will overcome the disaster. However, in both places, people admitted that a wind or another snow would completely erase all the progress that has been made thus far.

WEASEL RUNS MERCY ERRANDS—Darkness does not stop this army weasel from Camp Carson, Colo., operating out of the Alliance blizzard relief headquarters. At the controls is Pvt. Raymond Vikte of Camp Carson. Second crew member, Cpl. Willard Hatton, is at right. Putting a box of groceries into the vehicle for an isolated ranch is S/Sgt. George Gillespie, headquarters company, Third battalion, 134th Infantry regiment of the National Guard. (Staff Photo.)

"OPERATION SNOWBOUND" EFFORTS—This chart-map indicates the equipment, personnel and service the Nebraska National guard has in the field as it prepares to turn over its blizzard-relief activities to the Fifth Army.

TODAY, ALSO, COMES the announcement by Mrs. Savilla Melton of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Kathryn, to Kenneth Aukerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Aukerman.

The wedding will be an event of late May.

Both Miss Melton and her fiance are graduates of the University of Nebraska where Mr. Aukerman is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

AND NOW WE COME TO THE wedding date, and parties for an exceedingly popular bride-elect—Miss Louise Gold.

Miss Gold has chosen Tuesday evening, March 15, for her wedding which will be solemnized at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gold. The 7:30 o'clock ceremony will be attended by only members of the families, but will be followed by a reception at Hotel Cornhusker.

MISS GOLD RETURNED from New York City in time to begin the series of prenuptial courtesies that had been planned for this week—

On Sunday evening Miss Gold and her fiance, Aaron Levitt of Omaha, were the honorees at a dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Silverman were host and hostess at their home. Dinner places were arranged for twelve.

TODAY'S PARTY FOR Miss Gold was the mother-daughter luncheon for which Mrs. William Stamm was hostess at her home. Eight guests were invited for the luncheon and an informal afternoon.

As a refresher—Mrs. Woodward is the former Maryanna Cockle, Delta Delta Delta at the University of Nebraska.

THE WEATHER, WE'VE BEEN TOLD is not fittin' for man nor beast—but it seems that a group of Hillcrest Country club entertainment committees braved the below-zero temperatures, and risked the high snowdrifts to talk over the club's activities for the coming year—

The following announcement is one of the results:

The Hillcrest Country club swimming pool will be filled on May 31.

However, there were certain other things of interest, too—The chairman of the entertainment committee at Hillcrest this season will be Joe Duranske, and in charge of the Saturday night dances will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hobbs, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burnett.

The pool activities will be under the direction of George Farley, Dr. G. R. Underwood and Mrs. Max Grosshans, while Mrs. Merschel Tisdale will be the guiding hand in the ladies' day affairs. • • •

LAST NIGHT THE nineteen new provisional members of the Lincoln Junior League were out and about attending their first general meeting of the league at Hotel Cornhusker. Guest speaker of the evening was Miss Kady Faulkner whose topic was "Contemporary Art."

One of the special features of the meeting was the display of costume dolls of foreign lands for which the league members, in co-operation with Morrill hall, did research in order that the dolls be dressed in their native costumes. The doll exhibit will be sent on a tour of Nebraska schools.

ONE OF THE TRAVELERS of the week is Miss Helen Hewit who left the last week-end for Tampa, Fla., where she will spend three weeks as the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Linus Hewit.

(Mary Adelaide Hansen), and her children, Norman, III, and daughter Jan, who are coming to spend ten days as the guests of Mrs. Jones's mother, Mrs. Elmer Hansen. They will be joined later by Mr. Jones who will accompany his family back to their home in Burlington, Ia.

WHEN MRS. CHARLES H. OLDFATHER planned a tea for next Friday for the faculty women and wives of the men on the faculty of the arts and science college at the University of Nebraska—she wasn't faced with the problem of icy streets and snowdrifts.

The tea has been postponed since Mrs. Oldfather believed that there would be too many transportation difficulties.

Iowa Negro Innocent Of Manslaughter

. . . In "Right-To-Work"

WATERLOO, Ia.—(AP)—A 55-year-old Dunkerton, Ia., Negro was free today of a manslaughter charge which stemmed from last May's riot and shooting at the strike-bound Rath packing company plant.

A District court jury, after three-one-half hours deliberation yesterday, found Fred Lee Roberts innocent of manslaughter in the shooting of William (Chuck) Farrell, a striking CIO packinghouse worker.

In closing arguments, attorneys for both sides touched on "a man's right to work."

Roberts had pleaded self-defense. He said he shot into the air "in terror" when his car was stopped by a crowd outside the plant gate as he was driving to work and when the crowd began shaking his car and crying out, "kill the jig."

Chapter 20

Betty never remembered how she managed to tell her uncle and aunt. But she must have told them, for a little while later they were in the car on their way to the hospital.

Uncle David was driving, his heavily veined hands manipulating the steering wheel with a steadiness that astonished his niece. His unwonted silence was the only outward indication of what was going on inside him.

Aunt Minniebelle sat on the back seat with Betty, dry-eyed and silent. There was no more sobbing, no more hysteria. Every now and then she would say in a quiet voice, almost as if she were talking to herself:

"She was coming home, and she wanted me to know it. I knew all the time she'd come back."

"Yes," her husband would say, unconsciously speaking in the past sense, "she was like that. They didn't make girls any finer than Gertie. She was a little bit stubborn like me. But her heart was always in the right place—just like yours, Minniebelle."

Betty felt her heart bleed for this gallant middle-aged couple who were so valiantly carrying on. After hearing the news Aunt Minniebelle had gotten up from bed, dried her tears, and dressed just as quietly—just as carefully—as if she were going to a club meeting. If her hand trembled a little as she put on her hat, it wasn't too obvious.

Uncle Dave, with no bluster at all, had found his coat and hat without even asking where they were and accusing somebody of hiding them.

Yes, they had kept their chins up—Uncle Dave and Aunt Minniebelle. She, Betty, whose concern was nothing comparable to theirs, hadn't. It wasn't Aunt Minniebelle who had burst into a fit of wild sobbing after Betty had delivered Doctor Newton's message. It was she, Betty. Why, it was all she could do to keep from crying aloud right now!

It was a small hospital, a reconverted residence to which a long wing had been added. It looked more like a home than a hospital, and was utterly unlike the handsome building in New York in which Betty had trained for a few months.

A nurse met them at the door and escorted them into the small waiting room. She spoke to the Warrens, calling them by name and, although she made no mention of their reason for being there, there was a world of compassion in her eyes.

There was an air of friendly informality about the entire place, but there was obviously no lack of efficiency.

Presently Betty got up and went out into the big room where the nurses were. She spoke to one of the nurses, a pretty blue-eyed girl whom the others addressed as "Bobby." She asked about Jack Barnes.

"Oh, he's getting along all right," the girl said. "It's really a miracle. I'm sure you can come in to see him tomorrow, if you like to. You could go in now, but he's badly shaken up and the doctor wants to keep him as quiet as possible."

She did not volunteer any further information. Betty did not ask about Gertrude. Somehow she knew without being told that Gertrude was dead. The compassionate look in Bobby's eyes had said so.

When she returned to the waiting room Doctor Newton was there. He had already told Uncle Dave and Aunt Minniebelle. Uncle Dave stood with his arm around his wife's shoulder, staring off into space, seeing nothing. Aunt Minniebelle's eyes appeared to be glazed and her chin was trembling, but she made no outcry.

The doctor turned to Betty, but before he could speak she nodded her head, indicating that she knew.

After a while they went home, to a hauntingly silent house whose every detail would remind them of Gertrude. Doctor Newton drove the car, Betty sitting beside him, with David and Minniebelle on the back seat.

"Well, honey - bunch," Betty heard her uncle say, "we haven't got much to look forward to, now that Gertie's gone. But we've still got each other."

"Yes," his wife said. "And we know she was coming home. I know now that it was just a childish whim that made her go away. But she wanted to come back, and she was coming back. Nothing can take that away from us."

Betty thought of that a little while later as she stood at her bedroom window watching the sun come up over the Bay. She was glad now that she hadn't told them about Bobby Costello. Maybe Aunt Minniebelle was right after all. It might have been merely a childish whim. Jack Barnes could very easily have been mistaken.

Betty wished she could go back to New York immediately and take up hospital training where she had left off. Only today—no, it was yesterday—she had told Jack Barnes of her decision to do so in the fall.

But she knew she couldn't go back in the fall—or ever. No matter how hard it was, she would have to stay there. She could not leave Uncle Dave and Aunt Minniebelle. They had come to her rescue when she needed them; they had given her a home when she had none. They needed her—now.

Elks Contribute $1,286 To March Of Dimes Fund

Lincoln lodge No. 80, B. P. O. Elks, increased the Lincoln March of Dimes fund with a $1,286.30 contribution.

The check was presented to Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, Nebraska March of Dimes chairman, by Joseph J. Cariotto, exalted ruler of the local lodge.

The sum is given by the lodge, but includes a number of individual contribution. In addition members are still aiding the drive through coin boxes placed in the lodge building.

Chancellor Gustavson termed the Elks' contribution "a fine example of the kind of service that can come from American community groups."

"The March of Dimes organization is very grateful to the Lincoln Elks," he said. "But better than our thanks, is the knowledge Lincoln Elks have that their money is helping to battle a cruel enemy of childhood."

Good's Address At Chamber Feb. 7

The noon luncheon speech at the chamber of commerce by Paul Good, secretary of the U. S. chamber education committee, originally announced for Wednesday, Feb. 9, will be held Monday, Feb. 7, Chamber Vice President Lloyd J. Marti announced.

Marti stated that out-state representatives have been invited to the meeting and that Columbus and Fremont have already indicated they would have delegations from various education groups here.

School Men To Attend.

Charles Hoff, Omaha, secretary of the Nebraska School Boards association, which is meeting in Lincoln that day, said approximately 100 association members will attend the luncheon.

Good, who for many years has been an exponent of a strong educational system throughout the country, declared recently that "there is a widespread interest among businessmen and other organizations in the part that education plays in strengthening loyalty to American ideals."

He explained that the U. S. Chamber committee on education is studying ways of sustaining and improving American standards of living through better education.

Marti emphasized that all persons interested in attending the event may make reservations with Miss Michel, 2-6671.

Phalanx Meeting — The Y. M. C. A. Phalanx fraternity was entertained by David Meisenholder, magician, at its meeting Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. Cliff Beck, vice president, presided.

Western U. S. Reels Under Savage Winter Onslaughts

. . . Crops, Livestock Hit From Texas To California

(By the Associated Press)

Weather's wintry elements lashed out over states from Texas to California in January, causing at least 112 deaths and millions of dollars damage to citrus and vegetable crops.

But the final death toll, property damage and livestock losses remains undetermined as the storm-battered western section of the national still reeled from the January blizzards.

A survey today unfolded to some extent the widespread damage over the storm belt from the worst weather inseveral years.

The death toll in 15 states hit by blizzards, sub-zero temperatures and ice and sleet storms was at least 112.

Citrus Crops Hit.

The damage to citrus and vegetable crops runs into the millions of dollars—$30,000,000 in California alone.

The livestock loss still is undetermined and probably will not be known until spring. The job of saving the thousands of cattle and sheep which were snowbound by blizzards still is not finished. Neither is the huge task of bringing relief to the thousands of marooned ranchers and Indians. The emphasis in the western blizzard belt still is on relief operations—not on counting the losses.

Some communities in the blizzard area were isolated for days—some for weeks. Roads choked with huge snow drifts halted all travel over hundreds of miles in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Nevada, Utah, and Idaho.

Livestock Losses Heavy.

Most stockmen believe the accurate livestock loss will not be determined until the spring thaws But all agreed the toll is heavy. In Wyoming out of an estimated 775,000 cattle and 1,500,000 sheep the estimated losses run from 50,000 to 60,000 cattle and 105,000 to 110,000 sheep. Stockmen said losses resulting from the after effects of the prolonged cold weather and storms may be greater than the number lost in the blizzards.

In Nevada, livestock losses were unestimated. However, approximately 65,000 cattle and 100,000 sheep had been stranded 10 days without food before the haylift operations started. Indications are that 50 per cent of the cattle will be lost but losses of sheep may not be determined until after warmer weather and the lambing season.

In Nebraska, one of the states hardest hit by the blizzards, A. E. Anderson, state-federal crop statistician said in estimating the livestock loss that the damage "still lies under several feet of snow."

Wildlife Suffers.

There were reports of losses of wildlife in some of the western states—including deer, elk and quail. Loss of quail and pheasants was reported heavy in Nebraska.

There were countless cases of hardship, especially in the western blizzard area. There also were innumerable stories of heroic rescues. Many isolated communities in Nebraska have been receiving supplies by airlift for nearly a month. Gordon was snowbound for 12 days and only three trains entered the community during January. The death toll by states includes Nebraska 20; Wyoming 13; Colorado 15; Washington 8; Iowa 6; Montana 5; California 4; Utah, North Dakota and Missouri 3 each; Kansas 2 and Oklahoma, South Dakota and Arizona 1 each.

Heavy Snow In Texas.

Ice, sleet and snow storms hit many of the southwestern states. Texas had snow ranging up to 10 inches.

The heaviest damage to crops were in the citrus belts of southern California, Arizona and the lower Rio Grande valley of Texas. The Arizona losses were estimated at more than $2,000,000 and were expected to run into the millions in Texas.

The ice and sleet storms which whipped across many southwestern and midwest states caused heavy damage. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said damage to its lines in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas was $7,500,000 since Jan. 9.

Shipping Cattle Out Impractical, Howard Declares

"If we could get the cattle out, we could get feed in to the cattle," Director of Agriculture Rufus Howard said Tuesday when informed of an offer from Arkansas to pasture winter-starved range cattle from the blizzard area.

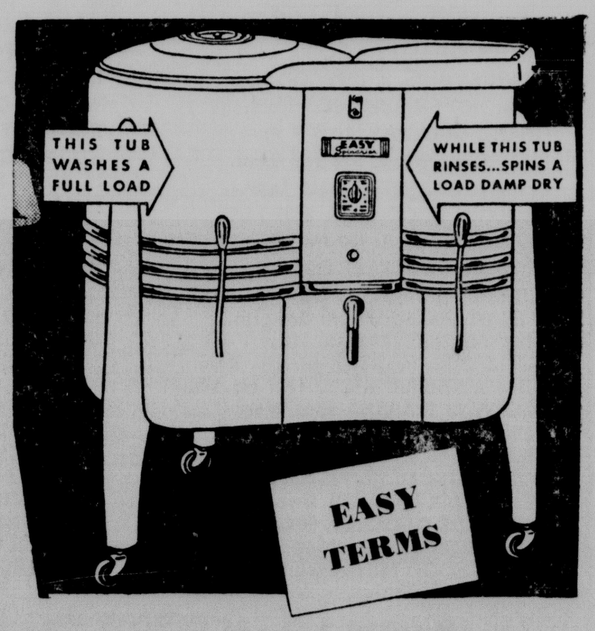

"It just wouldn't be practical. It would be a big expense, and it would be out of the question, to get the cattle to the loading points," he declared.

Howard said offers similar to the suggestion from Arkansas had come from other parts of the country.

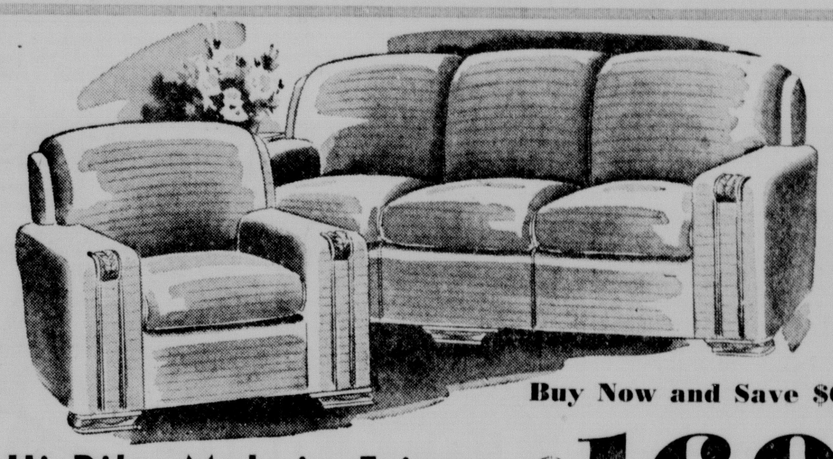

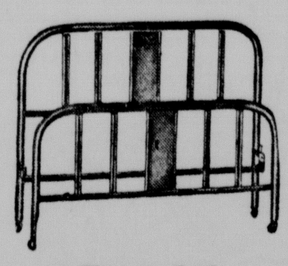

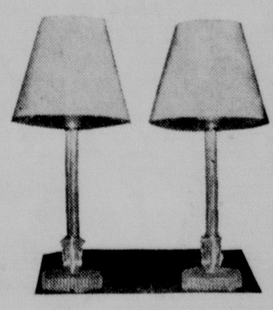

"But that isn't the solution to our problem. Our problem is to get feed in to the cattle. We need the cattle on our ranches," he added.

Opinion Says Prohs Assessment Bill Is Unconstitutional

A bill to enable livestock feeders to report the average number of head owned throughout the year instead of the number actually on hand at assessment time would be unconstitutional, the attorney general's office held today.

Senator Prohs of Gering introduced the bill, explaining that feeders who have not disposed of their stock by March 10 assessment date are penalized, while those who ship before that date are not assessed for any of their feeder stock.

Attorney General James H. Anderson ruled that the proposal to allow feeders to report the average number of head owned throughout the year would violate the requirement that all property be taxed uniformly, and the prohibition against setting up a class with special privileges.

Lincoln N. F. Loan Report Is Best In History

. . . Berkeybile Declares

The 1948 financial statement is the best in the history of the Lincoln National Farm Loan association, J. D. Berkeybile, secretary treasurer, said Tuesday at the annual stockholders' meeting at the Lincoln hotel.

He reported that there has not been a delinquency for two and half years on loans which total $2,097,500.

He explained a reserve program which is building up a "buffer" to protect the investment of stockholders from losses that might develop in "the unforeseen future."

The association paid out $40,409.35 in dividends to its members in last the last five years, he said.

Directors Re-elected.

At the business session Charles Armstrong, Greenwood, and Ross E. Nisley, Bennet, were re-elected directors for three year terms.

Norris F. Schroeder, Haskins, member of the state legislature was the principal speaker.

More than 200 farmers and guests from Lancaster and surrounding counties attended the meeting.

Curtiss Is Chamber V.A. Chairman For '49

John E. Curtiss, was anncunced Wednesday by President John F. Lawlor as the 1949 chairman of the chamber of commerce veterans affairs committee, which was to hold its first meeting of the year today.

Curtiss explained that the committee will concern itself primarily with Lincoln's relationship to the Veterans Administration headquarters and the Veterans hospital. He said the committee will also consider other matters concerning ex-servicemen, but will not duplicate or overlap other existing agencies in this field.

Chamber Vice-President Lloyd J. Marti and Harold E. Anderson are ex-officio members of the committee. James R. Critchfield, industrial manager of the chamber, is secretary.

There are 17 other members of the committee as follows:

One man's Opinion

by WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed by International News Serv.)

Nothing has come of Rep. Lane's proposal to televise congress and the alert to Max Factor has been cancelled.

KIERNAN

Members who got their pants pressed are now demanding studio time to use up the crease.

A few democratic senators favored television but they feared Taft would shine his scalp in Barkley's eyes and blur the picture.

It was decided that daytime audiences would rather watch a homemaker bake and sew than a lawmaker stew and rip.

But if they ever do televise congress, thousands of constituents are going to wonder who posed for the campaign posters.

I hear one fellow carried the woman's vote in his district with a picture of Aly Khan after replacing the turban with a derby.

London Bridge Falls Slightly, But Not Down After 120 Years Of Use

LONDON — (AP) — It's true London bridge is falling down.

London bridge, now almost 120 years old, has dropped several inches at one point on its south side, river users reported today.

But city officials aren't worried that it will tumble into the River Thames.

It may be falling a bit, they said, but it's under constant observation, no new cracks have appeared in it, and on the whole, it's "perfectly sound."

20 Nebraska Storm Deaths

. . . Since Jan. 1

The total by other states: Texas 27; Wyoming 13; Colorado, 15; Washington 8; Iowa 6; Montana 5; and California 4.

Kiwanians Study Flood Prevention At Milford Camp

Action to prevent flood danger by the Blue river to Camp Kiwanis, near Milford, is being considered by the Lincoln Kiwanis club.

The club, which operates the camp, will hear a report by its camp property committee during the luncheon meeting Friday at the chamber of commerce.

Reporting on a flood control plan and other camp improvements will be Miss Phyllis Dent, Lincoln Camp Fire executive; Mrs. Ralph Beechner, member of the Camp Fire board and Camp Fire camp committee chairman; and Robert D. Latsch, chairman of the Kiwanis camp property committee.

The camp has been operated since 1920, and represents an investment of $40,000. "During recent years spring floods have been a serious handicap and some way must be found to get the camp out of the mud," Curry W. Watson, secretary said.

SICK!
STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health

IF YOU ARE a sufferer of these ailments, try GEO-MINERAL. You may be astounded at the results. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth—Nature's Laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope—is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments—highly recommended by the medical profession.

GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. Lack of minerals in the blood causes anemia, headaches, nervousness. Minerals generate mental brilliancy, give sparkling eyes, red cheeks, fight disease, build up health.

Rich Red Blood

MEDICAL records show 68% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, feel blue, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

Wonder Minerals

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The most important of our people, including doctors, go to mineral springs. They would not patronize regularly these springs without any benefit.

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

Amazing Results

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals found in the world's best springs. Watch the results a day or two after using it. The housecleaning it will do in your body, the poisons it will bring out. When you see this, do not get alarmed—thank Nature who created Geo-Mineral as a sign that the medicine is working on you, and realize its priceless value.

GEO-MINERAL is not a physic and does not interfere with the foods in the stomach. It cleans and purifies the intestines, thoroughly relieving gas, toxins, acids, and bloating. After these poisons are out of the system and the kidneys purified, we begin to feel the arthritis, rheumatism leaving as Nature starts to complete the recovery.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

Read What They Say!

Pharmacists, like doctors, know medicine best. Thousands of druggists of high reputation, who now sell Geo-Mineral, report amazing results by its users.

"We have sold Geo-Mineral for the last six months and it has been one of the best selling drug items we have ever handled"—say Porter Bros., pharmacists of Concord, N. C. "Users report amazing results in many instances, and we personally believe Geo-Mineral is a good medicine for purposes as indicated, and recommend it to sufferers who have tried other medicines with little if any results. They may discover that Geo-Mineral is what they have probably been needing and looking for — we unhesitatingly recommend it."

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results, helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds.

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral"—says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C.—"but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."

State Y. D. Oust Local County Club

Action May Lead To Two Democratic Organizations Here

The "bad boy" of the yo ng democratic ranks in Nebraska—the Lancaster county organization—was on its own Wednesday after being given an official spanking and ordered out of the party's house.

The drastic action—which reduced the membership of the state organization in half—followed a stormy session of a seven-member state executive committee at the Cornhusker hotel.

4 to 1 Vote.

The three-hour meeting ended when the committee by a 4 to 1 vote ordered the charter of the local organization revoked.. Two members of the committee did not vote. Robert Mullen, Omaha national committeeman of the Young Democrats, and one of the leaders of the powerful Omaha group, passed, and a second state official, Paul Scott, Lincoln, was barred from voting.

The action, according to Vernon O. Taylor, president of the Nebraska Democratic clubs, came because the local group had not ousted Eugene Berman, University of Nebraska student, who Taylor charged was at one time a third-party member.

Compromise In Wind.

Taylor said that another charter will be issued in the county whenever an organization of another club is completed. He said members of the present Lancaster county organization, including its officials, could join the new club.

"In fact, I hope the two factions do get together," Taylor remarked at the meeting. His statement came after he praised the local club for what he termed "outstanding work."

But indications today were that there would be no immediate compromise between the two groups in the county.

One group—which is supported by the state organization—is headed by Tom Brown, Stanley Lowe, and Charles Bocken. They are expected to ask for and receive a charter for their group.

Petition Presented.

During the heated session, they presented to the state organization a petition carrying the names of 41 members of the present club and 52 other democrats in the county who said they favored having the charter of the local group revoked. An examination of the signatures on the petition revealed at least two of the names were republicans. There are 416 paid-up members in the local club.

Meanwhile, during the session charges and counter-charges that over-shadowed the "Berman issue" were echoed from both sides.

Members of the state committee made these charges:

(1) That the local group had no right to support Albin T. Anderson in the 1948 democratic primary race.

(2) That the local group should have given all-out support of Frank Sorrell, democratic candidate for governor.

(3) That the local organization did not represent democrats in the county but just those on the University of Nebraska campus.

Countering the charges members of the local group defended their action in the Anderson-Carpenter race and denounced the state organization for failure to "actively support any candidate" during the recent campaign.

In the voting, John White, treasurer, Lincoln, cast the dissenting vote. Voting to revoke the charter were Mrs. Frank Sorrell, Syracuse, national committeewoman; E. K. Yanney, Kearney, holding the proxy of Vice Chairman Robert Tierney, Alliance; Mrs. A. Clifford Anderson, Lincoln, holding the proxy of Mrs. Lucille Geldmeyer, Otoe, vice chairman; and Roy Kolar, Kearney, holding the proxy of state secretary, Howard Hillman, Grand Island.

Ripon Hotel Ruins Combed For Missing

. . . One Body Recovered

RIPON, Wis. —(AP)— Search was resumed today for the bodies of five persons believed to have perished in the fire which destroyed the Grand View hotel early yesterday.

One unidentified body was recovered from the ruins late yesterday, but Police Chief Ira Dunham said five other hotel guests still were unaccounted for.

Cause of the blaze in the four-story brick veneer building had not been identified.

Dunham listed as missing and presumed dead: Lloyd Wasserbach, 27; Albert Bleich, 60, both of Madison, Wis.; Robert Wingler, 32, Iowa City, Ia.; Charles Wendtland, 80, Alice Callan, 52, and Clara Solverson, 62, all of Ripon.

Routeman Aids Storm Victim— In North Lincoln

Suffering from the savage winter that has pounded Nebraska is not restricted to the disaster areas.

Monday a Lincoln dairy routeman came to the aid of a 70-year-old woman who was without food or fuel.

Henry Ross, deliveryman for Fairmont Foods, found the woman alone in her north Lincoln home, bundled in all the clothes she owned to keep warm.

Ross said the woman told him she had lost her glasses and her relief check and had been unable to leave the house because of the deep snow.

Ross saw to it she was taken to a local nursing home for treatment. She said she lived alone and he knew of no relatives living in this area.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Herbert Stothart, Broadway and Hollywood musical composer for more than two decades, is dead at the age of 64.

He died here yesterday after several months' illness.

Stothart was born in Milwaukee.

Dental Health Division Urged

Two Bills Held In Committee

Setting up a division of dental health in the state health department and licensing and establishing qualifications for dental hygienists were advocated by the Nebraska Dental association before the legislative public health committee Tuesday.

The committee was told that 37 states now recognize dental hygienists. It was urged that they be required to work under the supervision of a licensed dentist with not more than one hygienist to a dentist. Control would be kept by the board of dental examiners rather than the health department.

Division chiefs for promotion of dental health are now established in health departments of 28 states the committee was advised. They object to the present dental program being under the division of material and child health supervised by a physician and seek separate status.

The two bills were introduced by Sen. C. C. Lillibridge of Crete, who appeared in their behalf. Representing the dental association were Dr. Paul Ludwick, president, and Drs. Merritt Pedersen, L. T. Hunt and L. D. Arnot.

Beginners Could Do Work.

Opposing the hygienist bill was Dr. Carol E. Brown of Lincoln who said that need did not exist for such services and that new dentists beginning practice could care for any extra work longer established dentists might be unable to accept.

The bills were held in committee to permit the introducer to submit amendments for further study.

Four bills correcting statutes introduced by Sen. Charles Wilson of Norfolk, LB 242, 243, 244, 245, were advanced to general file.

They repeal statutes dealing with the precinct assessor, include domesticated corporation in those reporting stock values for assessment, provide method of levying tax on non-resident motor vehicle carriers, and change the date of assessmeit of car companies to June 1 from April 20.

Three Perish In K.C. Blaze

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — A postal clerk's wife and two children died today in an apartment house fire while he was at his job working overtime.

Fire swept a two-story brick building, routing 34 tenants in sub-freezing temperatures and bringing death to Mrs. Dorothy Becklean and two children, Susan, 3, and Mary, 2.

The father, Harmon R. Becklean, would have reached the home shortly before the fire struck had he not remained at work. He arrived in time to watch the fruitless efforts of firemen and police attempting to revive the mother and children.

January's 1.96 Precipitation In Missouri Basin Exceeded Only Once In 60 Years

January precipitation in the Missouri river basin averaged 1.96 inches, or 268 per cent of normal, the regional engineer's office in Kansas City, Mo., reported.

This has been exceeded only once in the past 60 years.

As a result, the report said, indications are for "excessive spring run-offs associated with high water and serious ice jams."

However, it continued, January precipitation does not have a significant relationship to spring floods." It is a contributing factor but its affect is modified by precipitation during later winter months and later winter temperatures."

Severe ice conditions were reported between Fort Leavenworth and Omaha. Above Sioux City the situation is about normal.

Precipitation summary for January based on reports from 75 stations in the Missouri river basin:

Basin or Area	Normal Inches	Actual Inches	Excess Inches	% of Nor.

State Insurance Department Faces Headache---Stiner

OMAHA—(AP)—The Nebraska insurance department faces a big headache, Fred Stiner, attorney for the department, told members of the Lions club yesterday.

The problem began, Stiner said, when the 80th congress assured to the states their long practiced regulation of insurance companies.

The Nebraska legislature passed three laws covering fire and casualty insurance and fair trade practices.

Statisticians Needed.

The laws require all companies except life insurance and assessment firms to file rates on all but a few of their policies and to report annually on policies written, premiums income, losses and expenses. The first report is due July 1.

From then on, Stiner said, it will be a process of "trying to justify and take apart rates," studying profits and determining that no rate discrimination is attempted.

An interstate commission that could afford to hire high-priced statisticians and actuaries would be desirable, Stiner said.

Such a commission for Nebraska, South Dakota and Kansas is being considered by the council of state governments.

Ice May Be Porous Enough To Prevent Damage Says Reitz

Agronomists at the University of Nebraska agricultural experiment station are conducting experiments to determine definitely if the snow and ice layer covering most of the state has affected prospects for a winter wheat crop next summer.

Prof. Lewis P. Reitz has taken several samples from the agronomy farm's plots and placed them in a greenhouse to determine their growth possibilities. Prof. Reitz said he is of the opinion most of Nebraska's wheat is not damaged, but "I want to make sure."

He said the ice under the snow layer seems to be sufficiently porous to prevent the wheat's smothering. He believes, however, that wheat now under frozen pools of water may be damaged.

Other wheat, he said, looks as it should this time of year. Prof. Reitz is agronomist in charge of co-ordinating the great plains' hard red winter wheat improvement program. Ten states are cooperating in the project.

$440,000 Mortgage Release Is Filed

The Cooper Foundation filed a release with the register of deeds Tuesday of a $440,000 mortgage it had given just one year earlier to the Continental National bank of Lincoln, trustee.

The mortgage, dated February 1, 1948, listed the Lincoln Theater and a theater in Oklahoma City. The Foundation gave the mortgage to the bank as trustee for six local insurance companies.

Nevada Set For New Blizzard

. . . STORM THREATENS HAYLIFT

ELY, Nev. — (AP) — A snow storm threatened to halt the haylift to starving Nevada livestock today.

The Reno weather bureau warned stockmen that another storm of blizzard proportions was moving eastward across the state and would be followed by abnormal cold and winds.

Air force planes hauling alfalfa hay to livestock floundering in the worst snows in Nevada history suspended operations after yesterday's flights as the weather closed in on the takeoff bases.

Stockmen took a serious view of the new storm, fearing that fresh snow might undo all that has been accomplished the past eight days.

A PAT ON THE BACK
FOR THESE "HEROES OF THE LINES"

These unsolicited letters are typical of many comments expressing appreciation and thoughtfulness of the efforts of the men who undergo extreme hardships to provide your electric service.

Mr. George Sampson, Local Manager
Consumers Public Power Company
Wausa, Nebraska
January 17, 1949
Dear Sir:
The Wausa Improvement Club has instructed me to inform you that they recognize the excellent service you rendered during the recent storm period. We are well aware of the hardships you and your men had to face, and we wish you to know the community is appreciative of your efforts to keep the lines intact.
Very truly yours, /s/ LYLE PLOG
Secretary Wausa Improvement Club

Dear Mr. Cortner:
Usually letters in regard to service are in the form of complaints. This time we would like to congratulate Consumers Public Power District and its employees for the excellent manner in which they maintained the electric service in Greeley during the recent blizzard.
Your local representatives, John Hart of Greeley and Frank Beedle of Scotia, did an excellent job in keeping the power lines in operation under most severe conditions. Our best wishes for your continued success.
Yours very truly,
THE GREELEY CITIZEN
/s/ Maurice W. Curran

Yes, the men who battle blizzards, disregarding personal danger and discomfort, to keep your electricity flowing are truly deserving of an occasional pat on the back.

They are deeply appreciative of this recognition and extremely regretful when they fail in their battle with the uncontrollable elements which might interrupt your electric service even momentarily. To them, this is a major catastrophe.

The storms experienced during recent weeks are, by all comparisons, the worst in electrical history and more damaging than would normally be expected in fifty years of electrical operation.

Even with this severity, electric lines in most instances, have withstood the force surprisingly well.

In some cases, where humanly impossible to prevent, regrettable interruptions of electric service have resulted. The tolerance and fair understanding of people of these communities, though enduring great inconvenience and hardship, is truly gratifying.

We pledge our every effort toward preventing such inconvenience wherever humanly possible and, through constant planning and effort, toward providing the most dependable and serviceable electricity within our power.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

LITTLE FELLOWS COLLIDE—Scottie Willoughby (22) of Northeast pulls up along side Jerry Tomasek of Lincoln during the city title game Monday. The pair of forwards were the shortest players in the game, Tomasek standing 5-8 and Willoughby 5-9. The lack of height did not stop either cager from causing trouble for taller opponents. (Staff Photo.)

FRED WELLS, 1947-48 pitching leader of the A's, will again be chucking for Lincoln. His contract was sold to Buffalo, but family illness forced Fred to stay nearer his home town of Junction City, Kas. Buffalo sold his contract back to the A's.

WARD Haylett and the Kansas State track team were spectators at the Wildcat-Cornhusker basketball game Monday night . . . During the afternoon, the K-State tracksters joined NU's cindermen in a workout in the indoor plant . . . Jack Pesek, ex-Husker gridder, is enrolled at the university for next semester . . . Jack has made a name for himself these past six months as a pro wrestler in Minnesota and Ohio circles . . . While attending class, he will keep up ring activity on week-ends . . . Reaves Peters, Big Seven commissioner, was another onlooker at the Monday eve cage classic . . . Reaves is happy that Big Seven track coaches agreed to make the 1949 indoor carnival a two-day affair . . . For the past several years, qualifying and finals have all been crammed into a one-day meet, an unhappy method, indeed, for men participating in more than one event . . . The current meet is dated for Feb. 25-26 at the Kansas City, Mo., Municipal auditorium . . . Dick Hutton, the Husker football and track star, will graduate in June . . . The Auburn flyer will spend another year at NU, however, working on his masters' degree in physical education . . . Dick's older brother, Luther, the old Peru whiz, is studying for his masters at Greeley, Colo., State college . . . Guy Chamberlin, the Nebraska grid immortal, is now operating a tractor equipment company at Nebraska City . . . Guy and George Halas, present operator of the Chicago Bears, were named last week by Sports Director Frank Korch of WGN in Chicago as the Bears' two all-time end greats . . . Vice-president of the freshman class at Notre Dame is Elmer Layden, jr., son of the old Four Horseman . . . Bob Snyder, fired as coach of the Los Angeles Rams, has been added to the staff of the Green Bay Packers . . . If Omaha U. agrees to release his contract, ex-Husker Charley Brock will be another Packer coaching addition . . . He formerly won all-pro center honors while a member of the Green Bay club.

Bill Glassford

ONE of the strongest backers of Bill (Biff) Glassford, new Husker gridmaster, is Cy Sherman, retired sports editor of The Star . . . Cy, who gave Nebraska its Cornhusker nickname, has followed NU football since 1893 . . . He admires Glassford's background—his wide coaching experience for his age, his leadership qualities as captain of Jock Sutherland's 1937 Pittsburgh team and the mere fact that he learned his football from such a master as Sutherland . . . An endorsement from Uncle Cy might be good enough for anyone.

Mrs. Priscilla Groshans of Lincoln recently was awarded permanent possession of the Jack (Pop) Cooper trophy at a recent meeting of the Midwest Racing association in Des Moines . . . Mrs. Groshans' perennial best clockings with hydroplanes caused association members to unanimously vote her permanent membership of the trophy . . . Her top hydroplane timing for a three-mile run averages 49.3 miles per hour, near the nation's best.

Two ex-Husker athletes are on the news staff of radio station KOLN . . . They are Perry Fuller, ex-cager, and Roger Johnson, a tackle stalwart in 1945 . . . Now that Biff Blassford is searching for assistant Husker coaches, the name of Bob (Cleveland Rams) Waterfield has been mentioned as a possibility for backfield coach . . . Waterfield, who is married to Screen Star Jane Russell, recently wrote Lincolnite Ray (Guns) Croisant:

"My plans at the moment are definitely at a standstill, so I am naturally interested in any proposition that has the earmarks of future security. Naturally, college coaching has its limitations for security but these are to be expected. I have made no commitments with the Rams and, at present, I am undecided as to what my next move will be. Any light that you could throw on the situation at Nebraska would be appreciated."

Joe Rates Foes, Puts Charles 1st

Savold 2nd, Top NBA Contender Walcott 3rd

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(AP)—Joe Louis took his second look at Elmer (Violent) ray as an exhibition opponent and Wednesday the heavyweight champion put Ray down as sixth in his list of logical contenders.

CHAMP'S IDEA.

Louis figured Ezzard Charles, who's been battling as a light heavy, is the top-ranking challenger. He put Lee Savold in second place.

Savold was number two and Jersey Joe Walcott number three, the champ said, only because he has not met Savold and has already beat Walcott twice.

Thus the champion's idea of a suitable opponent differs some from the National Boxing association's latest ratings. In December the NBA called no fighter a contender but put Walcott first in the list of outstanding boxers.

BETTER SECOND TIME.

Its only other rated heavyweight was Ezzard Charles.

Joe Baksi came next in Louis' ratings and then Gus Lesnevich, also ahead of Ray. Louis didn't make any ratings beyond sixth.

Ray's crouching, bobbing style didn't give Louis anywhere near the trouble here Tuesday night it did in their six-rounder at Miami last week. Thus the man who has held the title 11 years and successfully defended it 25 times continued his habit of improving against an opponent the second time.

He staggered Ray, a 200-pounder from Hastings, Fla., with a lightning right in the third of four rounds. Ray went against the ropes but not to the canvas and recovered after a few seconds.

Louis gave Ray credit for being aggressive and unafraid. Ray stayed at close quarters with the champion through their bouts and got in a few licks of his own. At Miami, one of them raised a welt under Louis' eye, but there wasn't one that counted.

In the main bout Tuesday night, a 10-rounder, Toby Reid, 158, of Jacksonville, decisioned Dave Meredith, 159, of Macon, Ga.

Wednesday night Louis concludes his six-bout Florida tour with a four-round exhibition affair against Bill Graves, 210-pounds Negro fighter, at Daytona Beach. Louis is fighting at about 200.

Can't Count Wildcats Out

. . . Says Jack Gardner

KANSAS CITY—(AP) — Jack Gardner, Kansas State basketball coach, says it would be unwise to count his Wildcats out of the running for the Big Seven conference basketball championship.

Kansas State has a .500 mark with the race half over. The defending champion Wildcats have won three and lost three and trail Nebraska (3-0) and Oklahoma (5-1) in the standings.

"We've got a good chance to win the title for a couple of reasons," Gardner said. "First, the schedule of remaining games is in our favor. We play four of our remaining six games at home. Oklahoma plays four of six on the road and Nebraska six of their nine on the road."

The second reason Gardner believes Kansas State still has a chance is the fact that his sophomore-dominated team is improving.

The Wildcats also will get a tremendous boost if Clarence Brannum, all conference center last season, is permitted to play in second semester games. Brannum center of a hot eligibility controversy last year, announced Tuesday he plans to enroll in college again. He dropped out after the 1948 season.

Brannum has been playing with an A.A.U. team at Peoria, Ill. Dr. H. H. Haymaker, Kansas State faculty representative, said last night Brannum would be eligible if he passed a special examination carrying three hours credit.

Kansas State will meet Missouri in a Big Seven game at Manhattan, Kas., Saturday night.

Meantime, the Missouri Tigers take on a major task in the St. Louis university Billikens at Columbia Wednesday night. Coach Stalcup plans to start his tallest players in an effort to halt easy Ed Macauley, Billiken scoring ace.

Omaha Knights Lose Regain Cellar Position

OMAHA—(AP)—Omaha still is in its own private cellar in the U. S. Hockey league Wednesday. The Knights, who have been on the bottom of the northern division of the league most of the season, lost to Minneapolis 2 to 1 Tuesday night in a game that could have boosted Omaha into the No. 3 spot and dumped the Millers into the basement.

Goalie Bell Stays With Omaha Knights

OHAHA—(AP)— Relief Goalie Gordon Bell will remain with the Omaha Knights of the U. S. Hockey league for the remainder of the season, Coach Mud Bruneteau said Tuesday.

Bell was on loan from the Buffalo club and was slated to be recalled a week ago. Bruneteau said he had been informed of the chance of plans Tuesday by Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wing system.

Omaha's spare goalie, Jim Shirley, will be loaned to San Diego, Adams told the Omaha coach.

JOE GOOD'S OVERTIME FREE THROW GIVES CITY CHAMPIONSHIP TO LHS

By GEORGE MILLER
(Star Sports Staff Member)

LINCOLN HIGH'S string of 10 consecutive wins frayed almost to the breaking point Tuesday night, but the Links held on by the slimmest of threads with a 30-29 win over Northeast for the city championship.

The prep rivals were knotted at 29-all after the regulation 32 minutes of play. A howling coliseum mob of 7,500 well-divided partisans viewed the spectacle.

Joe Good was credited with the free throw that decided the eighth renewal of the city series. It was a fitting touch that the poker-faced Good, who had pulled the Links back into contention time and time again, should net the deciding basket.

Drama in the final minutes made up for a distressing lack of basketball finesse during the preceding quarters. Along with the absence of the smooth floor play that brought both teams into the contest with noteworthy records, neither side could do much in the shooting department, either from the field or free throw line.

OLD BUGABOO.

In the final reckoning, Northeast was forced to recognize that age-old plague — missed free throws—as the chief reason for defeat.

The Rockets hit only nine of 25 tries. Lincoln made good on 12 of 21 tosses. From the field Northeast had a one goal edge with nine.

Forward Ron Butler of Northeast took the spotlight in the last 10 seconds of regular play, sinking a free throw that sent the game into extra minutes.

Lincoln had squeezed into a 29-28 lead with 1:58 to play on a one-hander by Gus Lebsock. Trying desperately, Butler broke up the Links' stall. He was fouled by Hobe Jones as he drove toward the basket with a stolen pass.

ABSENT REGULAR.

Butler's unguarded flip was perfect.

Both teams lacked regulars during the following three minutes. Phil Hall and Jerry Tomasek of Lincoln were missing because of excessive fouls. Paul Fredstrom and John Niederhouse of Northeast were absent for the same reason and were joined by Scottie Willoughby after 90 seconds of overtime scrambling.

Willoughby's interference gave Good the decisive free throw chance. The Links stalled out another 90 seconds to avenge last year's loss.

Lincoln's 5-1 lead in the first four minutes was the largest margin either team could produce. The score was tied 6-6 after the first quarter and 11-11 at halftime.

Northeast pulled into a 21-18 advantage after three quarters due to a pair of long shots by Butler and two close efforts by Fredstrom.

QUICK CHANGE.

In less than a minute of the fourth period Lincoln was in front. Phil Hall ended an under-basket scramble with a fielder and Good caged one of his favorite two-hand set tosses. Another perfect long shot by Good drove his team farther to the front.

Northeast was not done, however, for Fredstrom collected two free throws. Willoughby, Northeast's answer to Good's long range bombarding, hit his fourth distant heave and the Rockets were back in command.

Over anxious guarding by Niederhaus and Willoughby enabled Tomasek and Good to try free throws with success.

This was the signal for Willoughby's final try. He dropped a driving setup and cashed a third point when Hall fouled him on the shot. Northeast led 28-26 with two and one-half minutes to play.

But Hall scored a free throw and Lebsock hit his important field goal to set the stage for Butler's tying point.

SOPH TOP SCORER.

Sophomore Fredstrom led all scorers with 12 points. He yielded the starring role to Good and Willoughby, game captains for the night. The former delivered long shots when his club could not get close to the Rocket basket.

Willoughby was a standout retriever despite a height disadvantage. And he slipped in 10 points, mostly from the outlying reaches.

The game was the closest in city series history, exceeding in thrills the 47-45 Lincoln win in 1947. The Links now have 11 victories for the year. Northeast's record is seven wins and three losses.

Tutors Trip Bluebirds 2nd Time

. . . Mercier Leads

By ALAN THOMPSON.
(Star Sports Staff Member.)

Cathedral, it seems, has the only basketball team Teachers college high can beat, overlooking Garland and Malcolm.

At least the Tutors had to wait from their first encounter with the Bluebirds on Dec. 10, until Tuesday afternoon to break a six-game losing streak with a second victory over Cathedral, 33-27, at the Coliseum.

CATHEDRAL STRONG.

From the way the Bluebirds opened, however, it looked like TCHS was in for another disappointment. Three minutes elapsed before Dick Macasa's free throw put Teachers into the game.

During that time Vince Aldrich's crew had moved out in front with seven points. The next three minutes brought the Tutors abreast their fast starting foes, and a basket by Center Stan Kaltenberger gave them a 9-8 lead at the end of the first quarter.

MERCIER LEADS.

Top Tutor scorer Bob Mercier collected six of his eleven points, in the next quarter to help stretch the margin to 21-17 by halftime.

Center Jack Walentine led Cathedral's chase and finished ahead one point ahead of Mercier with 12 point total.

After the rest it was the Tutors who started fast. Jim McKay setup Mercier under the backboard and Dean Severns broke through for another basket.

Walentine, however, retaliated with a field goal and a free toss. Two free throws by Jack Beecham and Ken Lohmier moved Cathedral within three points as the third quarter ended 25-22.

Cathedral edged even closer in the final period when Beecham pushed in a one-hander making the score 26-24.

That was as close as the Blue Birds came to overtaking Teachers as three successive interceptions in the closing minutes resulted Tutor scores.

Bob Heffelfinger broke up a pair of Cathedral plays to fouled both times for two points. Mercier caught a third Bluebird pass and dribbled back for two more.

Raymond used 12 points by Center Pete Beranek as the spark in eliminating Bennet, 36-22. Four of Beranek's baskets came in the third quarter.

Bennet failed to score during the second quarter and was too far behind to catch up when players recovered their touch.

Ralph Holdsworth was best for the losers with eight points.

Walton roared back from a 6-4 deficit after one quarter to smack Firth, 37-16. By halftime Walton had taken a 17-7 lead.

Guard Schroeder led the winners with 10 points. Center Jay Hartwig was Firth's best with six tallies.

Kentucky Tops Bills In AP Poll

Oklahoma A&M Third; Illinois, Gophers Follow

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Kentucky has replaced St. Louis university as the country's No. 1 college basketball team in the third weekly poll of sports writers and broadcasters, conducted by the Associated Press.

It has taken the Wildcats, defending NCAA champions, a month to shake off the effects of a narrow loss to St. Louis in the Sugar Bowl finals, their only defeat in 15 starts.

RUPP FIRST.

St. Louis, winner of the National Invitation tournament here last spring, kept the top spot in the poll for two weeks despite an overtime defeat by Oklahoma A. and M.

But this time, 39 of the 71 experts participating in the poll decided Coach Adolph Rupp's Olympians belong on top. They not only matched the 14-1 Kentucky record against a season mark of 13-1 for St. Louis, but had a 24-point Wildcat decision over Notre Dame to help them make up their minds.

St. Louis slipped to second place. The Billikens drew 25 first place votes and earned 619 points on the usual basis of ten for first, nine for second, and so on, compared to 668 points for Kentucky.

SCORE REVENGE.

Oklahoma A. and M., with an 11-2 record, retained its No. 3 position, polling four first place votes and 515 points. The Aggies' most recent excursion resulted in a 37-26 triumph over DePaul of Chicago, which had whipped them earlier in the season.

Following the big three in the top 10 are Illinois, Minnesota, Western Kentucky, Villanova, Hamline, Stanford and San Francisco, in that order, with 33 other teams mentioned in the balloting.

Minnesota and Villanova and Western Kentucky all were knocked out of the unbeaten ranks since the previous poll, but none dropped from the first 10. Hamline remains the only major undefeated club.

Illinois moved into fourth place by virtue of its 45-44 victory which ended a 13-game winning streak for Minnesota. The Golden Gophers clung to fifth place, while Western Kentucky dropped from fourth to sixth after seeing a 16-game desk snapped by Eastern Kentucky.

Villanova hopped from eighth to seventh, although it must be noted that the votes were in before the Wildcats lost to Dequesne, 63-37, Monday night for the only defeat in 13 games.

Stanford moved into ninth place, succeeding San Francisco, which dropped to tenth as Utah slumped from ninth to twelfth.

The top teams figured on a point basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 (first place votes in parentheses):

1. Kentucky (39)..668
2. St. Louis (25)..619
3. Okl. A&M..515
4. Illinois (1)....410
5. Minnesota 345
6. W. Ky. (1)....322
7. Villanova 189
8. Hamline 183
9. Stanford (1)..107
10. S. Francisco..92

The second ten: 11, Tulane, 72; 12, Utah, 62; 13, Loyola (Chicago), 48; 14, Bowling Green (O.), 27; 15, New York university, 24; 16, Butler, 24; 17, North Carolina State, 23; 18, Bradley, 20; 19, Holy Cross, 17; 20, Eastern Kentucky, 16.

Retherford Leads NU

. . . Malecek Over 100

Claude Retherford's 183 points put him at the top of the Cornhusker scoring chart ahead of two other teammates who have passed the 100-point mark.

Current runnerup with 163 points is Center Bus Whitehead. The third high point man is Joe Malecek.

Meanwhile the Nebraskans as a team hold a sizeable 20.3 margin over their nearest conference rival, Oklahoma, in offensive play. Harry Good's point makers have averaged 64.3 per game.

On defense the Huskers rank fifth place in the Big Seven with a 44.0 average.

Creighton Prep Scores Easy North High Win

OMAHA — (AP) — Creighton Prep's basketball team settled a debt Tuesday night.

The Junior Blue Jays drubbed North high — the team that has given them their only defeat this season—by a decisive 52 to 39 count.

The Creighton boys were never behind and never in trouble. The starting five kicked up their heels and set to work at a lightning pace that put them ahead 17 to 12 at the quarter.

Smith To Lafayette

EASTON, Pa.—(AP)—Maurice J. (Clipper) Smith, fresh from the pro football ranks, Tuesday was named head grid coach at Lafayette College and promptly announced he will employ his own version of the "T" formation.

"I'm not going to follow the stereotyped form," said the clipper who learned his football at Notre Dame under the immortal Knute Rockne.

Smith succeeds Ivan (Red) Williamson who resigned a week ago to take over the coaching reins at the University of Wisconsin.

Reached at his home in Laguna Beach, Calif., Smith said he had signed a long-term contract but that release of its terms "is up to the authorities at Lafayette."

Dana college, which hasn't lost a basketball game this season, will give Fairbury Junior college a crack at the roll of giant-killer Wednesday night.

In the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic association, where both teams do business, Dana has won five straight, Fairbury two and lost one.

Tuesday night, the big wheel in the Nebraska College conference —Peru—won its seventh straight.

Sending Midland on its way 79 to 49, the Peru team more than ever looked like a sure bet to repeat as the NCC title holder.

In another NCC game, York dumped Doane into next to last place in the league—a spot York itself had been holding down—and moved into Doane's seventh position.

Chadron, the cellar team in the NCC, did better in non-loop play. Staving off a South Dakota Mines rally in the last two minutes, Chadron came out on top 52 to 48.

Chadron held a 27 to 26 edge at the half and the game was tied 36-36 with 12 minutes left to go. But after that the Eagles went ahead and stayed there.

Omaha university got the best of Simpson in an overtime and came out on top 59 to 55. Omaha led the Iowa team 29 to 22 at the half.

Race Dates Announced

. . . 17 For Lincoln

A 17-day race meeting at the Fairgrounds track was among 78 days of horse racing for Nebraska announced by R. E. Boomer, secretary of the Nebraska state racing commission Tuesday.

The half-mile Fairgrounds oval will be in use from Aug. 9 to Aug. 27. Ed Schultz, secretary of the state fair board, will serve as secretary and manager during the meet.

Horses will run at four other Nebraska tracks.

The 32-day Ak-Sar-Ben meeting in Omaha starts the season May 24 and goes through July 4.

Madison follows with an eight-day meet sponsored by the Madison County Agricultural association from July 7 through July 16. The Platte County Agricultural association has booked a 15-day meeting at Columbus from July 19 through Aug. 6.

A six-day meeting in Mitchell, sponsored by the Scotts Bluff County Agricultural association, is scheduled from Sept. 5 through Sept. 10.

Rex Barney, Ashburn Ink '49 Contracts

Two of Nebraska's major league baseball players had come to agreement with their respective managements Tuesday concerning terms of the coming season.

Rich Ashburn, Philadelphia Phillie outfielder from Tilden who was named "Rookie of the Year" by the Sporting News, signed a one-year contract.

He had declined a $7,500 offer last week, insisting he would settle for nothing less than $12,000 No salary figures were released at the time of the signing.

Rex Barney, Brooklyn pitcher of no-hit fame, accepted a "very substantial raise" after flying to Chicago for a conference with President Branch Rickey.

Barney said that he intends to leave his Omaha home early for the Dodger spring training camp at Vero Beach, Fla., because a foot operation has left him behind in his conditioning program.

Howard Gordon Arrives

No Report Given Enlarging Sherman Field Grandstand

By NORRIS ANDERSON.

HOWARD GORDON, business manager of the Lincoln Athletics, arrived in Lincoln Tuesday night.

Genial Howard immediately launched into plans for the 1949 Western League season.

He has spent the winter "relaxing and planning" in his home at Harrisburg, Penn.

Howard drove all the way from Harrisburg with Bob Howsam, business manager of the Denver team. They stopped in Sioux City en route for a meeting of Western league business managers.

Howard said that he could not give any report on the proposed Sherman Field grandstand enlargement until he had met with the Lincoln Civic Baseball association.

"I have demands of 90 more boxes than we sold last year," said the business boss, "and, as you know, we were sold out then."

Howard Gordon

If a grandstand enlargement is made, the first measure might be installing more boxes. Lengthing the wings would be the next move.

An estimated $30,000 would be required for the improvement.

"Every boom season, like we enjoyed last year, is apt to be followed by an anti-climax," he added. We do not know whether the parent Athletics would back all of such an enlargement, but we are willing to do our share."

He cited the fact that $8,000 of the parent A's money was spent on ground improvements of the park, which is the property of the city.

Gordon, President A. Q. Schimmel of the Civic Baseball Association and a Salt Lake City contractor met Wednesday noon for a chat on the grandstand addition.

Start March 24.

The A's spring training period will start, March 24, in Moultrie, Ga. An abandoned army air field will be used to house all 12 of the system's minor league teams.

Manager Jimmy DeShong will not report to Lincoln before checking into the spring camp. He will go directly from his home in Harrisburg, Pa.

The 1949 Western league season will stretch from April 19, to Sept. 7 and will include 140 games, excluding play-offs, for each team.

Lincoln was the only team in the parent A's minor league system to show a profit for 1948.

Omaha will open spring drills, March 14, at Albany, Ga. Denver opens, March 13, at Myrtle Beach, S. C., and Sioux City opens the same day at Sanford, Fla. Pueblo and Des Moines both have March 20 dates at Vero Beach, Fla. and Macon, Ga., respectively.

Lincoln's 1949 season will open April 19 at Sherman Field, Gordon announced.

Reciprocal Trade Act Is Revived

House Committee Votes To Repeal GOP's Law

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Democrats drove through the house ways and means committee on a 17 to 8 vote today a bill restoring until June 12, 1951, the full powers of the old reciprocal trade law.

President Truman requested the legislation, telling congress it is needed to remove hobbles put on trade negotiations y the GOP tariff law passed in 1948.

He said full operation of the trade act would build world commerce and promote peace.

Two republicans—Reps. Kean (NJ) and Holmes (Wash)—joined 15 democrats in support of the measure.

Opposing were eight republicans.

The legislation will go to the house for debate next week, with a vote expected Wednesday.

It gives the president power, without any reference to congress, to cut American duties up to 50 per cent below Jan. 1, 1941, tariffs, in trade pacts with nations that agree to reduce their trade barriers.

The 1948 GOP revision of the trade law provided for detailed studies by the federal tariff commission.

Ump Gains By Series Of Criticisms

Bill Stewart Named To Major Rules Group

By WHITNEY MARTIN.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The late Jimmy Johnston used to say: "Just spell the name right."

It wasn't exactly an invitation to call him a hoss thief or a one-man crime wave just as long as you got that "T" in his name. The fiery little guy would be as quick as the next one to holler foul at an attack on his integrity and character.

What he meant was that, in matters not pertaining to his personal life and reputation, any publicity was good publicity. As a fight manager and promoter, he realized that keeping your name before the public is a necessity, even if some of the comments are rather critical and put you in a bad light. Even bad publicity sometimes reacts to your advantage.

KICK-OFF TROUBLES.

Bill Stewart, the National league umpire, provides a prime example of that.

Bill called the now-famous pick-off play in the first game of the World Series last fall. The photos of the play left a doubt in the minds of a lot of people as to the accuracy of the decision, although personally we don't think they proved anything one way or the other.

Anyway, most of the printed comment on the incident wasn't exactly favorable to the umpire. The comments ranged from a mild criticism to the effect that he had muffed one to the intimation he wasn't exactly the type of man you'd ask to watch your newspaper stand while you went to lunch.

Bill took it all in stride, and gained a lot in stature by so doing. He called the play as he saw it, and that was all there was to it.

Well, it wasn't exactly good publicity, but the stocky guy is much nearer the celebrity class that he ever was before, when he had a record of achievement as a hockey manager and official and as a baseball umpire.

This winter he has found himself more in demand than ever before as a banquet speaker, and it's a cinch the first thing he is asked to discuss is: "How about that play?"

Although this new prominence had nothing to do with it, another honor has come his way. This is in the nature of an acknowledgment of his judgment and ability by the man whose opinion counts the most.

Ford Frick, National league president and Stewart's boss, says he has appointed him to the baseball rules committee, on which Frick and Branch Rickey also serve as National league representatives.

It really is more or less of an honorary appointment, as the baseball rules committee has about as much to do as a guy assigned to keep track of the bloomings of a century plant. That is, baseball rules barely are juggled even a little bit, which is one of the secrets of the perennial popularity of the sport.

South Wins Overtime Tilt From Tech, 32-29

OMAHA —(AP)— South high ended a four-game basketball losing streak Tuesday afternoon outlasting Tech, 32 to 29.

It was the first extra-period game in the Intercity league this season. At the end of regular playing time the score was 26-26.

Tom Bell, a substitute, grabbed three precious points for South in the overtime that put the Packers ahead for good.

L. B. Mayer Finishes Sale Of Race String

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The thoroughbred racehorse empire that Louis B. Mayer spent 10 years and millions of dollars to develop is no more.

All that remains is a herd of about 50 yearlings to be auctioned later this year.

Sale of the movieman's 504-acre breeding farm at Perris, Cal., for a price estimated at more than $1,000,000 Tuesday was the last major step in the breakup of the Mayer racing realm, started in 1938.

Buyers of the Perris farm were Ellsworth M. Statler, son of the founder of the Statler hotel system, and Mrs. Meredith Howard Harless, former Ziegfeld Follies girl and wife of former Rep. Richard F. Harless of Phoenix, Ariz., and Washington, D. C.

Ben B. Matthews, a Statler trustee, in announcing purchase of the Perris farm, said the new owners will continue it as a thoroughbred breeding center, opening it to other interested horsemen.

Mayer spent an estimated $2,500,000 on the farm, including stallions, broodmares and yearling purchases.

Turf experts figure that although Mayer poured millions into racing, it was profitable for him. Mayer horses earned $1,663,210 from 1938 through his first dispersal sale in February, 1947, winning 315 races, including 45 stakes.

Earnings of the horses, and sale of the ranch, breeding stock and two-and-old totalled approximately $7,780,000. Out of that, of course came costs of operating. The dispersal sales in the last two years brought in about $4,000,000.

Senators Ask U.S. Engineers Retain Duties

. . . Resolution Offered

Three state senators asked the legislature Wednesday to go on record in a resolution directed to congress opposing the transfer of the civil functions of the corps of army engineers to any other department of the federal government.

The resolution introduced by Senators Vogel, McKnight, and Hoyt stated that "if the chance should be made it may set back and perhaps jeopardize the orderly development of the Missouri basin through the Pick-Sloan plan."

"It is the considered judgment of the Nebraska legislature that any action which would in any way imperil the corps of army engineers as a separate entity would adversely effect not only the Missouri valley but the interests of the nation," the resolution reads.

Realtors Are Told Value Of Chemurgic Industry To State

Dr. Leo M. Christensen Tuesday told members of the real estate board meeting at the chamber of commerce that almost all of the industrial products made from Nebraska farm produce are manufactured out of the state.

"What we need to do is bring that industry into the state," he said. He pointed out that primary chemurgic industry must be developed before secondary chemurgic industries can be brought into the state.

He described primary chemurgic industries as those producing primary chemicals and secondary as those using the chemicals to produce consumer goods.

We produce many Nebraska farm products which are shipped out of the state to plants producing goods which are shipped back to Nebraska for consumption, Dr. Christensen stated. He pointed out that in some years, Nebraskans ship out as much as 5,000 tons of straw, which is manufactured into cellulose products.

Six German War Convicts Are Executed

2 Concentration Camp Prisoners Who Turned On Fellow Captives

MUNICH, Germany — (AP) — Six convicted war criminals, including two concentration camp inmates who turned on their fellow prisoners, were hanged today at Landsberg prison.

Three of the six were accused of killing surrendered American aviators who parachuted from damaged planes over Germany.

The executions increased to 103 the number of war criminals hanged at Landsberg since Oct. 15.

One man scheduled to be hanged was given a last minute reprieve. He was Gustav Heigel, 55, an S. S. sergeant who allegedly "prepared hundreds of inmates for execution."

The executed former inmates were trusties at Mauthausen concentration camp. They were Karl Schroegler, 43, and Indaleclo Gonzalez, 38.

Others hanged: Maj. Albert Heim, 56, Col. Ludwig Hollacher, 30, and Cpl. Friedrich Metz, 45.

Postal Receipts Take Surprising Hike In January

Lincoln postal receipts during January increased $19,231 over January of 1948, Postmaster O. E. Jerner reported today. Receipts last month were $149,088 compared to $129,857 in January of last year.

Although postoffice receipts have shown a steady increase for many years, the January increase this year is much more than expected, according to L. H. Watson, assistant postmaster.

The increase may be due in part to a slight increase in postal rates at the first of the year, Watson said, but most of the increase must be attributed to an unexplained increase in the volume of postoffice business.

"Postal savings showed a slight decrease from a year ago. They have decreased continually for several months. More war bonds were sold than during January of 1948, but their total value was slightly less. Sales of money orders dropped from last year, but postal note sales increased.

Surviving are his wife, Elize E.; three daughters, Mrs. Frances Wheeler, Lincoln, Mrs. Lillian McHugh, St. Louis, and Mrs. Mildred Drewel, Raymond; two sons, Thomas J., Omaha, and Edward J., Aurora; two brothers, James J., and Felix E., both of Lincoln, and 13 grandchildren.

14 Houses Sag Into Idle Mine

60 Made Homeless As Earth Cracks Open: Three Are Injured

CARBONDALE, Pa. — (AP) — Sixty persons were homeless today as the result of the cave-in of an idle anthracite mine in this community of 20,000.

The earth cracked wide open over the idle mine yesterday, dropping one house eight feet into the ground and damaging 13 others in a three-block area.

Three injured persons were still in the hospital today. The other 57 left homeless were living with relatives or in hotels. Police estimated the damage to the homes and surface areas at $100,000.

The mine beneath the homes was leased by the Hudson Coal Co., to the De Angelus Coal Co.

May Drop Again.

Police said there was no additional noticeable drop in the earth but "it might remain the same way for a week or so, then drop again; other cave-ins have done that."

The sunker area has been roped off and all traffic forbidden. Some of the houses are sitting at odd angles.

Loud underground rumblings warned the sleeping residents, most of them miners and their families, of the impending cave-in. As the earth parted, water mains burst, telephone and electric lines were ripped out. Escaping gas added additional danger.

State police, county commissioners and coal company officials began immediate investigations.

Blizzard Relief Station Sought For North Platte

NORTH PLATTE, Neb.—(AP)—Former Lieutenant Governor Robert Crosby has asked that North Platte be made a headquarters for blizzard relief operations.

Crosby sent duplicate telegrams to Gov. Val Peterson and Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, head of the state's blizzard relief operations.

The messages said: "Vast areas north of this city and south also are desperately snowbound. Ranchers' food supplies nearly gone. We are grateful for what is being done and do not want to claim undue attention for ourselves. We do want to emphasize the necessity of attacking the blizzard region from this locality also."

Crosby said he had heard reports of great need in both the northern and southern parts of the county. He said Sheriff O. L. Discoe had told him that because of the difficulty of locating bulldozers relief from the ground may be a long time reaching farmers and ranchers here. Lincoln county, of which North Platte is the county seat, was added to the disaster area Monday.
